

TEXAS TRACK STARS DUE HERE

Governor Alfred was scored in the House of Representatives yesterday for what members term an indifference, if not opposition to a reasonable interpretation of the Old Age Assistance Act. The Young Governor was a staunch advocate of liberal pension payments in the campaign and won without a run off.

It means nothing to the average voter to tell him that his candidate has forsaken his campaign promises. The most glib man in the world is the American voter. Our Number One racketeer is the successful politician. The bump on John Public's head is like the sun over the British domain, never goes down.

With thousands of aged people in Texas qualifying for aid, the Governor and the Legislature engage in debate over whether they be paid. The campaign is now past. Next year every platform will tell the cannon fodder of Texas democracy just how and when the pension will be paid.

The Old Age Assistance Amendment, a measure of doubtful economic adventure, came on during that strange interlude of the great American lapse when the theory that tax money should be used to underwrite the status of the individual, saturated the country. It sprang from the "great voice" of radio land and every "fire side chat" burgeoned with a wealth of social reform. Installment America took on the program but had no cash. Now it's pay day. The Legislature has had three opportunities to provide money. The governor has had three opportunities to provide it in co-operation with the law makers.

Here is a secret that is sure to get out sooner or later. The present legislature is going to submit a proposal for a sales tax to be voted on by the people. There is opposition to the sales tax among certain powerful groups in Texas, and in general the people have not understood the principle of the proposed levy. Anyway it is a good escape from responsibility so the law makers are apt to submit the question. After all that's democratic, they say. The Old Age Assistance amendment was also democratic. The matter was then squarely up to the legislature.

All the present squabble over enactment of new tax measures has nothing to do with pensions. New expenditures will be provided for new government agencies and the increase in ramification of the order. Saturday the Texas Senate voted $2,400,000 for pensions for Texas school teachers. We were told the amendment proposed merely to create machinery whereby the teachers could establish their own fund. Let's hope the state can find the money without taxing the people.

Soaking the oil companies is getting John Public aroused. He has finally become conscious. A tax on oil is paid by the oil companies during the campaign and by the consuming public thereafter.

Mr. and Mrs. John Howard of Lubbock are spending a few days in Cameron, guests of her sister, Mrs. Perry Wilkerson.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

Cameron's Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet attracted visitors from many places in Central Texas. At 7:30 when Chairman O. C. Acery invited the guests to be seated more than 400 marched into the big auditorium of the physical education building.

On the stage was the American Tamburita Band from St. Edwards University in Austin.

Opening the program with a prayer was Rev. Vernon G. Miles of the First Baptist Church. Toastmaster Acery then introduced a number of prominent visitors. At the conclusion of the menu F. E. Woodruff led the audience in songs.

R. L. Bobbitt of San Antonio, new chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, delivered the principal address.

Albert Collins, President of the Chamber of Commerce for the past year, delivered a short address, thanking the members for their co-operation.

On the table were copies of the annual report of the Chamber of Commerce.

Secretary W. F. Padon read the names of directors elected by a vote taken by mail. The names of the directors have not been submitted to The Herald for publication but it was believed the election resulted in returning all old directors to office.

At the conclusion of the program the band gave a concert of folklore Russian music.

Gus Evans, Jr., to Memphis College

Gus Evans, Jr., will leave Cameron Saturday for Memphis, Tennessee, where he will enter the Southern College of optometry where he will complete a course with the view of practice.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Evans, Sr., in Cameron. The father is an optometrist and has offices in the Geo. A. Thomas Drug Store.

He graduated from Yoe High School in 1935 and was a star end on the Yoemen team in the fall of 1934. For several months he has been with the New Cameron Drug Co.

BOWLING "PHENOM"

Collecting 31 of a possible 36 strikes in a regulation three-game league performance, Harvey Brantz, twenty-seven-year-old rate clerk in a Cleveland railroad office, banged out games of 276-300-223 for the outstanding total of 864, to smash the former world record of 853 for competition bowling, recorded by R. Holmes, of St. Louis, Mo., in 1934.

W. A. HEATH ANNOUNCES FOR ALDERMAN HERE

W. A. Heath is a candidate for Alderman subject to the special election to be held on Tuesday, April 6th.

Mr. Heath is one of the best known business men in Cameron. He has been engaged in business here for a number of years. He owns the Palace Barber Shop.

In announcing for the office of Alderman Mr. Heath does so on the invitation of friends who have tendered their support and will do all they can to elect him to this office.

No election was held in February due to the fact that no candidates offered for a primary. The election on April 6th is a general election and those who receive a majority vote will be elected and qualify immediately.

Mr. Heath appreciates the confidence expressed by his friends and will greatly appreciate the vote and support of all the people. He promises to apply business methods to the operation of the city government and will seek in every way to serve the interests of all the people.

KNIGHTS COLUMBUS HOLD MEET HERE

Knights of Columbus held their regular meeting here this week.

Edward Hesse presided in the absence of Grand Knight, August Kunz, who was ill. Will Anderle, Deputy Grand Knight, was also ill and absent.

John C. Andres, in charge of the Knights Crusade said that initiation ceremonies will be held soon.

Special Agent Robert MacKenzie was in Bryan Friday night and those from Cameron who heard him speak before the Council there were: John C. Andres, Rudolph Richter, Ralph Michalka, Bill Richter, Jerry Mikula, Frank Michalka, Louis Matula and Frank Richter.

THREE ANNOUNCE FOR CAMERON SCHOOL BOARD

Three candidates have announced for election to the Cameron School Board in the election to be held on Saturday April 6th.

The candidates are: Mrs. W. O. Triggs, Drayton McLane and J. C. Martin.

Mrs. Triggs was formerly a member of the board. Mr. McLane will be a new member. Mr. Martin is now a member and president of the board.

A special election is to be held for board members on Saturday, April 3. The regular city election is to be held on Tuesday, April 6th, for aldermen.

Three members of the Cameron School Board are to be elected.

BOB TERRY OFFERS FOR CITY COUNCIL

Bob Terry, business man and civic leader, is a candidate for Alderman in the city government, he announced Tuesday.

Mr. Terry was formerly a member of the council and served his city with distinction and his friends throughout the city will be glad to know that he has again consented to serve in this important place.

The election will be held on Tuesday, April 6. No primary election was held this year due to the fact that no candidates offered. Two vacancies occur on the city council if the aldermen now serving decline to run.

Mr. Terry has been active as a civic worker and has been a business man here for a number of years. He is at present a member of the athletic council and has done a great amount of work to build his city.

He asks his friends in Cameron to give him their support and pledges that he will serve the people faithfully at all times with due regard for the interests of all.

TAX MEASURE FAILS FOR MILANO SCHOOL

Public school interests in Milano district were placed in jeopardy as a result of the election held Saturday March 6th, it was said here Wednesday by citizens there.

The election proposed to retain the 75c tax and to build a new unit to cost $25,000. The election resulted in a majority of 4 votes against the proposal.

The tax was levied for school purposes several years ago. The election on Saturday was to test whether the tax would be continued. Its failure may cut off state aid and handicap the school which is a high school district.

Plans were under way to find some way out of the apparent difficulty into which the school has lapsed as a result of the failure to vote funds for its continuance.

MANY GO TO MISSION AT ST. MONICA'S

The Mission at St. Monica's church is being well attended, it was announced by Father Geo. Apel Wednesday morning. Rev. Dreis, preaching during the Mission is being heard by many.

On Saturday evening the service will be dedicated to the Blessed Virgin.

The Mission will close Sunday with special services at 8 a. m. and 9:45 a. m. There will be a Papal blessing at both masses. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament after the 8 a. m. Mass.

WAR AGAINST RABIES STARTS MARCH 15TH

War against rabies will begin in Cameron on Monday, March 15th, it was announced by Gene Smith, city marshal, who has orders from the city government to proceed with vaccination.

Last year 410 dogs were vaccinated at $1.50 per head. Only 115 were paid, it was announced. The vaccine alone cost $85. From these figures the campaign was unsuccessful.

This year the city has instructed the marshal to proceed and if dog owners do not pay at the time of the vaccination or in advance their dog will be taken to the pound, where it will be kept for 10 days and if not redeemed, will be disposed of.

It is also announced that a small charge for the keep of the dog will be made for each day it is kept in pound. This must be paid if dog is redeemed.

All dogs will be vaccinated and no exceptions will be made. Dogs running in yards, pets in the home and dogs on the street will all be taken for vaccination.

Rev. and Mrs. Maurice Groves have gone to housekeeping in east Cameron. Rev. Mr. Groves is the pastor of the new Christian church.

36 SCHOOLS ENTER FOR ANNUAL COMPETITION

Cameron's Annual Invitation Track Meet will be held here Saturday, March 13.

C. M. Hicks, manager said that 36 schools had entered teams and individual stars and others were expected to enter before the date of the meet.

The meet is being held for the fifth year and has become an event of state wide importance. It is managed by Mr. Hicks.

The following schools have entered. The following schools have entered the meet:

Taylor, Franklin, Granger, Angleton, Mart, Reagan, Kosse, San Marcos, Gustine, Columbus, Crockett, Temple, Walestine, Kerrville (Tivy High) Marquez, Lavernia, Rockdale, Oenaville, San Antonio (Thomas Jefferson), Dawson, Ad Hall, West, Round Rock, Bryan, Smithville, Schulenburg, Lockhart, Austin, Houston (San Jacinto), LaGrange, Jewitt, Valley Mills.

Thrall, Axtell and Thomas A. Edison of San Antonio have sent in entrance blanks but did not state the number of contestants to participate. The Thomas Jefferson high school of San Antonio opened their track season by winning the high school division. (Turn to page 6)

LEGION'S BIRTHDAY PARTY MARCH 16TH

Cameron's Legion birthday party will be held on Tuesday night, March 16th, at the hut in Wilson-Ledbetter park.

E. W. Streetman, adjutant of the post here, was making arrangements for an interesting program which includes a speech by Fred Young, Adjutant for the Department of Texas. A barbecue has been arranged for and a motion picture show will top the entertainment.

On March 15, 1919, a few veterans met in Paris, France, and organized the American Legion. From this humble beginning on foreign soil, the American Legion has become one of the largest and most influential organizations in the United States.

Edwin Hardy Post at Cameron was No. 9 in order of organization of Legion posts in Texas. In celebration of the founding of the order the local post has arranged for the big Birthday Celebration here on Tuesday night March 16.

Adjutant Streetman has issued an invitation to every ex-service man in the Post to attend this important celebration. Visitors will also be welcome. In many ways the party will be one of the most important events in the history of the post.

Newton Wants Safe Highways in Texas

"The terrific toll in highway accidents, each year mounting higher and higher, calls for a check and a double check on the inadequacy of our present Highway Patrol System," declares Senator W. R. Newton of Cameron, Milam County, who recently introduced into the Texas Legislature, Senate Bill No. 98 which further provides for fifteen captains, twenty sergeants and three hundred privates for Texas State Highway Patrol.

The appalling fatality list for the month of January alone numbers over 3,000 and makes it imperative that Texas highways be made safer for Texas travelers. With proper precautions and supervision many of these casualties might easily have been averted. With the present patrol force of 140 enlisted men, it is practically impossible to cover the 22,000 miles of our State highways. To be effective, the patrolmen must travel and work in pairs. One man by himself cannot weigh trucks. Moreover it is unsafe for one patrolman to carry on his ordinary duties. They must work in pairs to protect the other. To have twenty-four hour service, there must be two, twelve hour shifts.

The Highway Patrol is financed from the State Highway Funds.

To show that the present patrol system is not inactive during a period of fifteen months, 21,827 arrests were made, 156,070 motorists were warned, 14,591 were assisted, 9,000 complaints from overweight, length, etc., were filed against trucks, 25,000 autos were tested for mechanical defects and safety talks were given to nearly 200,000 children. Young America needs to be curbed. (Turn to page 6)

Cat Boss Lining Up Ft. Worth Hopefuls

By LORIN McMULLEN

In Fort Worth Star-Telegram
A stranger arrived in Fort Worth yesterday, introduced himself as Homer Peel, manager of the Cats, and went about preliminary plans for the baseball training season.

The man did resemble the once-affable Mr. Peel. He was eight or 10 pounds heavier, looked about the same, and, of course, was the same. Except that he was different.

A winter of outdoor work on his farm near Port Sullivan, and a lot of basket ball plainly were good for the Peel physique, but not for his agreeable nature.

Homer Plans 2 Daily Training Sessions

The new Peel is quite stern. His first surprising and uncharacteristic announcement was that all Cat hopefuls will work out twice daily—once at 10:30 a. m. and again at 1 in the afternoon. He explained:

"One good workout a day should be enough. But you can't depend on baseball players to go very long at a time without dodging it. So I'll just make 'em work twice as long."

This fits in with Peel's early request for a heavy schedule of exhibition games. He believes the club is too dependent on untried material and that only a hard grind of regular games will prove its class or lack of it. More explaining:

"I'm a bit suspicious of some of the players we have been considering sure starters in our lineup. I like the pitching staff, Hugh Shelley at centerfield, Lee Stebbins at first and Jimmy McLeod at short. But we have too many other question marks to sit back and hope for them to come through. If they won't do, we must find it out in time to get replacements."

"That's a great exhibition schedule Cecil Combs has arranged. When we get through with it we should know just how we stand."

Six Days of Drill—then a Ball Game
Peel is hoping Second Baseman Clyde McDowell, Third Baseman Larry Fisher and the catching hopefuls prove adequate.

Seventeen pitchers and catchers, Stebbins, Fisher, Outfielder Jerry Moore and several semipro are to report for first practice Monday morning. Others are to start a week later. That gives them just six days' practice before the first exhibition game, on March 21 at Jacksonville against Oklahoma City.

Gillis May Get West Point Entry Chance In July

Billy Gillis, son of Judge and Mrs. Graham Gillis of Cameron, was one of the seven Texans who have been designated candidates for admission to the United States Military Academy at West Point on July 1, by Senator Tom Connally and the late Representative James P. Buchanan, the War Department announced March 5.

Senator Connally designated Gillis as first alternate, which means, in the event that the principal appointee is unable to enter the academy, Gillis, if successful in entrance regulations, will fill the vacancy.

Gillis graduated from C. H. Yoe High School here in 1935 and is now a student at Schreiner Institute. He was an honor student and captain of the football team during his senior year. He is a second year student at Schreiner this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Maas of near Rosebud in Milam county, were in Cameron Monday on business. They read The Herald for the next two years.

AUGUST GLASER, 78 BURIED IN CAMERON

August Glaser, Sr., 78, for 22 years a resident of Milam county and a pioneer settler in Washington county, died at the family residence near Salem at 4 a. m. Tuesday, March 9th, 1937.

The aged pioneer was stricken several days ago with pneumonia and while his condition was grave, his death came as a shock to his family and to many friends in the immediate community. When news reached Cameron that grand old pioneer had passed away, sorrow was felt in every heart.

August Glaser, Sr., was born in Blumberg, Germany, on August 8, 1858, and would have been 79 years of age had he lived until August of this year. An immigrant boy, he left his home in Germany and got aboard ship and came to America when a small child. He found his way to Brenham in Washington county and there lived and grew to manhood where he met more than 53 years ago Miss Emma Chapka and they were married. To them were born ten sons, all of whom survive and live in Milam county.

In 1905 they moved to Cameron and for the past 22 years had lived on their farm. Although too young to have served in the civil war, he was born 4 years before the conflict arose. He came to America shortly after the war had closed and was among the many German pioneers who settled the Texas prairies.

Mr. Glaser was a member of the Buckholts Lutheran church for a number of years, but because of age could not attend often during the last few years of his life. He was a member of the Sons of Herman lodge in Cameron and at one time served the lodge as President and also as Secretary.

Funeral services were held from the family residence at Salem at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday, March 10, 1937, with Rev. R. Kalkbrenner, pastor of the Lutheran Church at Vogelsang, conducting the services. The Leland Green Funeral Home directed arrangements and interment was made in Oak Hill Cemetery in Cameron.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma Glaser and ten sons as follows: Fritz, August, Otto, Rudolph, Albert, Herman, Willis, Robert, Theodore and Leo. No death save that of the father has occurred in this remarkable family.

There are 30 grand children surviving and 2 great grand children.

Mrs. Jo Doane and daughter, Miss Dorothy Doane of Bryan were guests of Mrs. B. F. Bonds on Thursday.

Mrs. Gilbert McCollum spent several days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Judd Davis who accompanied her home in Houston on Sunday.

DR. EM WILSON DIES IN CORPUS MARCH 1

Dr. Em Wilson, 74, publisher and pioneer radio station owner, died at his home in Corpus Christi on Monday, March 1.

He was the father of Mrs. H. W. Herndon of Cameron who had been at the bedside of her father for several days prior to his death. Mr. Herndon is superintendent of the school at Ad Hall.

Dr. Wilson was president of the Eagle Broadcasting Company and owned the Corpus Christi Press. He at one time published The Eagle at Goldthwaite and also owned newspapers interest in San Angelo.

He owned 5 radio stations. Dr. Wilson was the first weekly newspaper publisher to own a radio station. His station at Goldthwaite has been moved to Tyler.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in Goldthwaite the former home of the Wilson family. Mr. and Mrs. Herndon attended the funeral together, going from Corpus Christi where Mr. Herndon was called Monday.

THE ACCURATE, TWO-ROW RIDING PLANTER

JOHN DEERE NO. 210—FOR COTTON, CORN AND PEANUTS

Here's the riding cotton and corn planter that was designed especially to reduce planting costs for Texas farmers. Its accuracy and its adaptability to all methods of cotton planting have made it a big favorite.

The John Deere Saw-Tooth Type Steel Picker Wheel picks out the cotton seed one at a time, or more if desired, in any quantity per acre. It picks out the lint and trash with the seed—no clogging in the hopper. Corn, sorghum, peanuts, and other crops are planted accurately by the use of John Deere Natural Drop Seed Plates.

Tongue truck relieves horses of neck weight and makes machine run steadily. Shovel openers and covers have reversible points. Runner openers can be furnished in place of shovels if desired. Fertilizer attachment and press wheels can also be furnished.

THE 60-horsepower Ford V-8 engine was first developed for Europe, where fuel costs are high. Two years' usage there proved its unusual economy.

When the "60" came to this country this year, the Ford Motor Company made no mileage claims—waited for facts, written on American roads by American drivers.

Now Ford "60" owners are reporting averages of 22 to 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline. That makes it the most economical Ford car ever built!

Best of all, the Ford "60" is just as big and roomy—just as handsome, sturdy and safe—as the famous 85-horsepower Ford V-8. And it sells at the lowest Ford price in years.

If you want a big car for a small budget—a car you can drive with pride and profit—see the thrifty "60" soon!

EDITORIAL

A choice picture attracts more favorable attention when framed than an unframed picture. A beautiful face attracts more favorable attention when suitably surrounded by becoming accessories.

This idea may be carried further. A building may be beautiful in workmanship and architecture, but if it is not properly clothed or framed, the entire beauty is not revealed as it should be. The beauty of a building is enhanced by its surroundings. The trees, shrubs, vines, plants, grass, walks, drives, all serve as the frame.

A sum of over $100 has been spent as a frame for the new Vocational Building. This frame consists of Prostrate Junipers, Arborvitae of various kinds, Nandinas, and a variety of other shrubbery. Much effort, as well as money, has been expended to beautify the beds, and someone has had to put forth the actual manual labor.

Those who have seen the shrubbery even at this early season of the year are commenting on how attractive the paintings are on the campus. The buildings are chiefly the center of interest, trees, shrubs, plants and grass being but supplementary. Their function is not to draw the eye and win approbation for themselves, but first and last to circumscribe their chiefs—the buildings.

The people of Cameron and students of the school can point with pride to the beauty of the buildings enhanced by the landscaping of the campus.

Sam Winfield went to Waco on Saturday.

Bob H. Nabours went to Buckholts Monday afternoon.

FRANK PERRIN RATED HIGH
AT A & M

Frank Perrin, student at A & M College, is among the Yoe High graduates who have made good records. A letter has been received by his father, E. A. Perrin, superintendent at Cameron, saying that Frank is a distinguished student. The letter is written by F. C. Bolton, dean of A & M College. The regulations provide that students at the end of the semester who have no grade below C are entitled to the distinction. Mr. Bolton congratulates Mr. Perrin and believes that at the end of the term Frank will again be eligible for this place among freshman students.

LATIN STUDENTS

Jim Baskin, Lucille McDermott and Dorothy Huebner won first, second and third places in the Latin theme try-out, February 23 and 24, for first-year students. In the second-year class Douglas Perrin won first place and Dorothy Perkins and Stone Garner tied for second place.

Winning essays have been sent to the chairman of the Latin Tournament and will compete in district meet.

LOS VIAJEROS ESPAÑOLES RETURN FROM MONTERREY TRIP

Eleven members of the Spanish Club returned Tuesday night from 4 day trip to Mexico. The group left Cameron in two cars early Saturday morning, Feb. 27th, arriving in Monterrey that night.

Many places of interest around Monterrey and Saltillo were visited. Among those were the Bishop's Palace, the Gran Ancira Hotel, the old market, the Terpsicore Gardens, the wealthy residential section, the Cuahemec Brewery, the Monterrey Glass Factory, the state Capitols of Nuevo Leon and Coahuila, the Alameda in Saltillo, the beautiful Saltillo Cathedral, the quaint little village of Villa de Santiago, which although it has only one street is seven miles long, Horsetail Falls, a candy factory, Chipinque Mesa, and many other places of unusual interest.

A bull fight with all its medieval pageantry and color was attended by the group while in Saltillo, a town fifty miles west of Monterrey. The quaint custom of the promenade of boys and girls on Saragoza Plaza in Monterrey was also witnessed and participated in by the students.

One of the most exciting events of the trip was the thrilling drive over six miles of hairpin curves to Chipinque Mesa, which is 5,500 feet above sea level, and the climb of an additional 1,000 feet to the "Ventana" at the top of the tallest mountain near Monterrey.

Members making the trip were selected by a point system desired for that purpose and were as follows: Adele Slama, Norma Jean McElwrath, Rex Lowe, Iva Earl Heath, Zora Wilkerson, Winnelle Kidd, Ben Walker, Milton Leach, Ida Lee Erk, Vivian Whites and Ray Hubert Brashear. Accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wiese and their sponsor, C. M. Franklyn.

Clayton Storey spent the week-end with Jesse Maybry in Curry.

Charles Sprott, student at Allen Academy, has been ill at his home for the past few weeks.

WHO'S WHO IN THE SENIOR CLASS

James A. (Jimmie) Stewart

There is probably no other student in Cameron Schools who has overcome more obstacles to acquire and education than has "Jimmie" Stewart. After walking four miles each day, he must hitch-hike the other ten to school, where he must pay a heavy tuition fee. When Jimmie receives his diploma this spring, he intends to pass a civil service test and land a government job. As an outstanding athlete and self-made boy, he is sure to succeed in the field he chooses.

Kittie Bob Mayes

Bob hails from Maysfield, where she is a very popular and outstanding girl. Being an active worker in her home community, her worthiness is reflected in Yoe High. After being a student in this school two years, she has made many friends. She intends to become a dietitian.

Rosemary Yates

Rose as she is called by her friends, has been with us only two years. Entering from Maysfield she has made a place for herself in every class. An excellent scholar and "all around girl," she likes to study Spanish and would like to pursue her study of this language in college.

MR. BOB, PRESENTED BY DRAMATIC CLUB FRIDAY

Friday, 8 p. m. the Dramatic club staged the play "Mr. Bob," before a full auditorium. Immediately after the play a colonial musicale was given by the students.

The scene of the musicale was an old Southern mansion, the owners of which were the hosts of Stephen Foster, nationally known song writer. Such songs as Dixie, My Old Kentucky Home, Lil' Liza Jane, and the Old Folks at Home were sung, the Choral Club from the Colored school taking part.

TYPISTS WIN PRACTICE MEET IN TAYLOR

The typing team of Yoe High School won first place in a practice meet held in Taylor Thursday afternoon. Rockdale, Taylor, Georgetown and Cameron, with 17 individuals each, made up the practice meet. The Cameron team was composed of the following: Edward Matocha, Josephine Newton, Martha Repka, Rosemary Yates, Dorothy Jean Lewis, Dorothy Perkins, Dana Kestenbaum and Dorothy Gohmert.

The Cameron team won first place in Team Events with scores judged in first, second and third places, Dorothy Gohmert won second place, Dana Kestenbaum won third place in individual scores. The team will go to Temple Saturday and Calvert Tuesday.

do these telephone mishaps ever happen
to you?

Your telephone bell rings...you pick up the receiver, and...there is no one on the line. Here are some ways to avoid this...for yourself and others:

1. Someone may have asked for your number by mistake, discovered the error, and hung up.

REMEDY: If you are not sure of a number, look in the directory before making a call.

2. Someone called you, but got impatient and didn't wait a reasonable time for you to answer.

REMEDY: When you make a call, wait about a minute (10 rings) for a reply before you hang up.

3. You may not have answered your telephone promptly; by the time you answered, the person calling had hung up.

REMEDY: Always try to answer your telephone promptly.

Simple remedies, these...but important. They help us give you better telephone service.

THE SENSATION OF THE YEAR!

GULF'S NEW KNOCKPROOF GAS

WHY IS GULF'S NEW NO-NOX ETHYL the gasoline sensation of the year?

Because there's been a crying need for a fuel that cannot knock! Motorists have hailed the new No-Nox Ethyl as the answer...a fuel boosted to such a new high that it is absolutely knockproof—even in the high-compression 1937 cars!

Motorists have discovered that it gives more power, smoothness, economy in any car. And—equally important—it starts instantly—cuts down battery wear, excess choking, crankcase dilution!

Try Gulf's new No-Nox Ethyl at the Sign of the Orange Disc. Costs no more than other premium fuels. A tankful of No-Nox and a crankcaseful of Gulfpride Oil can't be topped!

Houston Residents Pay Tribute to the Late J. K. Freeman

Mrs. Mary Anderson of Houston and Mrs. Estelle Mitchell of Los Angeles, were in Cameron Friday to spend a few hours. They came to pay their respects to the memory of the late J. K. Freeman who was buried on Wednesday, February 24, in Rosebud.

While in Cameron they visited with Jack Freeman, brother of the late J. K. Freeman.

Mrs. Anderson, wife of the senior member of the firm of Anderson, Clayton & Company, world renowned cotton merchants, and a sister of W. L. Clayton, and Mrs. Mitchell were born and reared at Tupolo, Mississippi, the ancestral home of the Freeman's.

William Wheeler, husband of Mrs. Wheeler, was assistant secretary of Labor and Commerce in the cabinet of the late President Theodore Roosevelt and a San Francisco and Los Angeles publisher, owning newspapers in both cities.

Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Wheeler knew Mr. Freeman when they were neighbors in old Tupolo. They drove over to Cameron and spent several hours with Jack Freeman. Both said they did not elect to write or send a message by wire but desired to come in person out of respect to the memory of their friend and childhood playmate, who died suddenly in his apartment in Cameron at 7 a. m. Tuesday, February 23rd.

COTTON SEED FOR PLANTING—I have 4 tons of Cliett cotton seed for planting. All grown from pedigreed seed in 1936. Will sell for $1 per bushel. W. C. Keith, Route 1, Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hasselman, Miss Genie Reeves and a nephew, all of Houston, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elo Werland and family.

Dr. James T. Mills and Dr. Schuessler both of Dallas were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kemp on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Barton of the Rocking Chair Ranch, near San Angelo, were also guests in the J. W. Kemp home last week.

Miss Wenonah Slaughter Becomes the Bride of Jack Reavis in Home Wedding Saturday Mar. 6

In a ceremony performed by Rev. Vernon G. Miles of the First Baptist Church and witnessed by only relatives and close friends, Miss Wenonah Slaughter became the bride of Mr. Jack Reavis in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Slaughter, here Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The bride was attractively gowned in a beige crepe creation and wore harmonizing accessories in brown and a corsage of pink carnations.

The home was effectively decorated for the occasion with ferns, tulips and peach blossoms.

During the coffee hour which followed the ceremony, Misses Helen Dier, Alice Rylander, Grace Markham and Nelta Dier served guests from a beautifully appointed table, laid with a lace cover and centered with a wedding cake in heart shape and embossed in pink and white with a miniature bride carrying a pink bouquet. On either side of the cake rested crystal holders with pink candles. The bride presided over the cake which was served to guests with coffee.

Mrs. T. W. Boykin, grandmother of the bride was presented the bride's corsage.

The bride was reared in Cameron and was a member of the 1935 graduating class. The groom had been located in Cameron for some time and was associated with the Kraft-Phoenix Cheese Corporation.

Following the reception, the couple left for Denison where they will make their home.

WEDNESDAY BRIDGE

Mrs. A. J. Triggs was hostess to members of the Wednesday Bridge Club for the week, entertaining with four tables of contract bridge.

Containers of sweetpeas in shades of pink were used throughout the reception suite for floral decorations. Further emphasizing the spring motif were attractive potted plants which were given for high cut awards. These were won by Mesdames W. A. Bonds and E. L. Taylor for club and guest cuts respectively.

The hostess served refreshments of frozen salad and assorted canopies with tea.

Guests of the club were Mesdames E. L. Taylor, Ruth Thomas, Oxsheer Smith, George Graves, J. C. Martin and Miss Aetna Smith.

TUESDAY CLUB

Because of the holiday which occurred on Tuesday, Miss Katherine Flinn entertained the Tuesday Club on Saturday afternoon at her home on 13th street.

A spring motif was carried out in floral decorations, tallies and game accessories. Colorful sweetpeas centered the tables when guests were served a salad refreshment course.

Guests other than members included Mrs. J. Triggs, Miss Eveline Curb and Miss Aetna Smith.

Albert Noack, manager of the Fairmont Creamery here, while asleep and influenced by a turbulent dream discharged a shot gun into his automobile which was parked in the driveway underneath his bedroom window, early Sunday morning.

Noack said that while asleep he saw someone attempting to enter his machine and he seized a shot gun which he always kept under his bed and shot through the screened window, shattering the glass in his automobile. The shot awakened him and he found only a frightened wife, excited neighbors and an ugly hole in his machine where the charge had entered.

DANCE

Miss Mary Ellen Cottle entertained with a dance on Saturday evening in the parlor of the Auditorium Hotel. Fruit, punch and assorted cookies were served to guests during the evening. Out of town guests included Morten Shipley, Jerry Davis and William Long of Waco and Malcolm Smith, John Edge and Joe Dyer of Bryan.

esting paper on historical events of the Centennial year.

The hostess assisted by Mrs. W. T. Hefley, served refreshments featuring the St. Patrick motif.

Mrs. W. B. Thomas of Rogers was the out of town member present and Mrs. Olive Todd Walker was guest of the meeting.

LEISURE 42

Members of the Leisure 42 club were guests of Mrs. Vince Lesikar Thursday afternoon, February 25th, at her home in Green addition.

After several games were enjoyed, Mrs. Herman Boeker was found to have high score and Mrs. W. J. Brashers second high. They were awarded a beautiful picture of George and Martha Washington.

The hostess employed a Washington birthday theme to decorate her home and used bouquets of wild plum and red berries for floral adornment.

She was assisted by Mrs. Herman Boedeker in serving individual cherry pie, topped with whipped cream, cakes the form of a hatchet with red, white and blue icing and coffee.

The plate favors were small flags. Miss Stacy Matyastik was a guest besides members present.

FRIDAY NIGHT CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Barmore entertained members and additional guests at a meeting of the Friday Night Club with five tables of players gathered for games of contract bridge.

The home was artistically adorned with houghs of red bud in Blossom and violets with game accessories in bird design to complete the spring motif.

Cigarettes were won by Dero Jenkins and Chas. Davidson for Club and guest scores respectively. Kitchen towels were presented Mrs. Penn Wolf for Club score and Mrs. Conn Moody for guest.

The hostess served refreshments at the conclusion of the games. The guests of the club included Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Alday, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patillo, Mr. and Mrs. Conn Moody and Mrs. Trent Newton of Bryan.

John Davis, who is a student at a business college in Houston, spent Monday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Judd Davis.

L. L. Blaylock of Palestine spent the week-end with his family in Cameron. Leonard Blaylock of Baylor University was also home.

FARM CLUB NEWS

BURLINGTON 4-H CLUB

The Burlington 4-H Club met with Barbara O'Neill on March 2 with all members and four visitors present.

"We learned," stated the reporter, a powder puff and a box of paint makes women look like what they ain't. "We also learned of the dangers in using cosmetics that all face or talcum powders are not safe for face powder because many of them contain rice starch or wheat starch that may bring about an unpleasant affliction such as hay fever, asthma or a heavy cold." "Talcum powder often contain zinc stearate which has been found to be poisonous and often is responsible for bronchitis and bronchial pneumonia."

"Cold cream and cleansing creams often spread skin diseases and lipsticks that are indelible may contain lead or other undesirable metals that dry the lips and must be used continuously."

"Avoid eyebrow and eyelash dyes because the risks are too great."

Barbara O'Neill resigned as reporter and Julia Helpert has volunteered to fill the place.

Refreshments were served and the meeting adjourned. The next meeting will be held March 16 with Geraldine Olbrich.

H-D CLUB

Several pieces of scrap iron and a little bone-meal were put in the holes where Kathleen Cunningham, orchard demonstrator for the Rockdale 4-H Club planted her peach and plum trees. Kathleen learned from Mr. Parnell at the orchard rally held in Cameron, that these two materials supply food for the trees that frequently are lacking in the soil.

For planting her trees she dug holes wide enough and deep enough to easily accommodate the entire root systems of the trees. She then placed the iron and bonemeal in the bottom of the hole. Before placing the trees in the ground the broken and torn roots were removed and the trees "de-eyed." Kathleen placed the trees in the hole so that they were two to three inches deeper than they had been in the nursery row, and spread the roots normally. She light-packed the soil around the roots and poured water over them so that no air spaces could be left which would cause the roots to dry out.

Corporal J. C. Cosby, 8th Engineers U. S. A. left Tuesday morning for his station at Laredo, after spending a 90 day leave visiting friends and relatives in and near Cameron. Corporal Cosby is seeing his second enlistment with the engineers where he takes an active part in all athletic activities of the post. He has been a member of the post baseball and basketball team for the past 3 years.

aim of the Border Olympics held at Laredo on March 2, 1937. The San Jacinto high school of Houston won the fourth annual invitation track meet in 1936 at Cameron, and are entering the largest number of contestants in this year's track meet. Tivy High school of Kerrville won second place in the state in football and some of the star players of the Tivy High school will try for places in the event here. Valley Mills will have as its star track performer J. Everett in the high hurdles. Everett placed in the track meet in Cameron last year and also in the state meet at Austin.

Mart has entered Billy Gillam in the weight events. He holds the state championship in the javelin throw for 1936. Lavernia has entered Ted Haese winner of second place in high jump in the state for 1936.

As an added attraction in the track event three of the Baylor University track athletes will run an exhibition race in the high hurdles. These athletes are: Kimbrell, Rose and Hooks.

from "turning on the gas and letting her go." Older America seems to need discipline for safe and sane driving almost as badly.

An added amount of protection to our highway patrol department might do much to lessen the toll of automobile accidents today. The Texas Highway Patrol has always operated at a profit. It is easy to calculate that if the present size highway patrol returns a profit of around $125,000 plus an added amount for additional registration fees, costs, fines, etc., it is reasonable to assume that a patrol double the present size, would return to the State a still larger amount.

Even the most cautious motorists today are in constant jeopardy from some of our careless drivers at the wheel and even though our present limited set-up is doing all that is humanly possible to cut down the casualty list, it will be a source of everlasting pride to every safety-loving citizen of Texas, to see our Texas Highway Patrol System sufficiently organized to blanket every need which may arise by day or by night."

Rosebud Winner Basketball Title In District 26

Belton, March 5—Rosebud won the silver loving cup for the Central Texas basketball league championship Thursday night when they defeated the Belton Tigers 32 to 23 in the final game of the season.

Rosebud lost only one game in the series—that to Cameron. Belton lost three—twice to Rosebud and once to Georgetown. Cameron finished third with four losses.

Thursday night's game was fast throughout. At times it looked as though Rosebud had a safe lead and then the Tigers would begin scoring and almost equal their score.

At the half Rosebud had a 16 to 5

BILLY GILLAM

Billy Gillam, outstanding track man in the state, will compete in the fifth invitation track meet to be held here Saturday, March 13. Gillam did very little in track events until last year when he scored 22 points in the McLennan County track meet, winning the high point medal. He won first place in shot-put, discus and javelin; second in high hurdle and tied for first in pole vault. He received 15 points in the district meet, winning first in shot put, discus and javelin and won second places in shot put and javelin in the Denton Regional meet and finally in the state meet he won first place in javelin throw.

Gillam set a record on the Yoeman track here last year when he threw the javelin 166 1-2 feet.

FUTURE FARMERS IN JUDGING AT MOODY

The Cameron Future Farmer livestock judging team placed second in an invitation contest held at Moody Saturday, and Kinnard Griffin, Cameron team member, was second high scoring individual in the contest. Sixteen teams from schools in the Area were competing for the honors. Von Hickman and Elvis Lott teamed with Griffin to win second honors.

In the beef cattle division, Cameron was likewise second, while in the hog and sheep divisions Cameron took third place. Kinnard Griffin was third high individual in the sheep judging. The team members placed fifteen classes of livestock which included Shorthorn and Angus steers, Angus cows, draft mules, Shropshire and Rambouillet sheep, Poland china hogs, and mixed fat barrows.

A terracing team composed of Walter Anderle, Herman Gerick and Herbert Schottle represented Cameron in that division.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS ON MONDAY March 15, 1937

Vaccination of dogs against Rabies (Hydrophobia) will begin in Cameron.

A new and more stringent regulation has been made by the City. Last year 410 dogs were vaccinated at $1.50 per head. Only 115 were paid and the medicine alone cost $85. It will be seen that this policy was not successful.

Beginning Monday, March 15, the crew in charge of vaccination will call at the homes of all dog owners. If the owners do not have the price for vaccination their dog will be taken and placed in the pound where he will be kept for 10 days. If after that date the fee is not paid and the dog redeemed they will be disposed of. In addition a charge for keep will be made on each day the dog is in pound.

TAKE NOTE—No dog will be excepted. Dogs that run upon the street, in yards or pets kept in the homes, will be vaccinated, all alike, for each are capable of carrying the dread disease of rabies.

Your co-operation is asked so that the danger to human life may be avoided by vaccination of all dogs in the city.

City Marshal, City of Cameron

THE HERALD

THE WASHINGTON STAGE

REVIEWED BY
W. R. POAGE
OUR CONGRESSMAN

I am writing this from Waco as I have been called home with other members of the Texas Delegation to attend the funeral of our friend and colleague, Honorable James P. Buchanan of Brenham. Mr. Buchanan was one of the senior members of the Texas Delegation, and was Chairman of the most powerful of all legislative committees—Appropriation Committee—in the House. While much has been said of the vast sums of money that were appropriated by his committee during the past few years, it must always be remembered that he has carried on the outstanding fight for economy in Government of any present day Congressman.

He was a great man and a faithful representative, and, while his funeral was attended by United States Senators, Governors, Congressmen, and Legislators, the most striking thing to me was the thousands of country people, evidently his friends for many years, who came through the rain to pay their last tribute. It will be hard to replace Mr. Buchanan and both Congress and Texas Delegation will miss him.

The House has been in Session very little this week, because of this bereavement, but the Senate on yesterday finally passed the Summer's Bill, authorizing the retirement of members of the Supreme Court, who are more than seventy years of age. This is the bill that I discussed some days ago, and I voted for the bill when it was before the House. I do not know whether it will have any immediate effect, but it is certainly a sound and desirable policy.

It is necessary for me to return to Washington tomorrow, and it will be impossible for me to meet my friends like I would like to while I am here, but on Tuesday morning, I am scheduled to meet with the officials of the Brazos River District to have a conference with Mr. Hopkins in an effort to get this project underway, and that afternoon the house will probably take up the neutrality bill, which, I think, is one of the vital measures to come before us this year. This bill attempts to reduce the likelihood of war through taking the prospective profits out of war.

I am sure very few of my friends can realize just how fine one feels to be back in Texas after spending a couple of months in Washington, and I will be glad when the Session adjourns and I can be home for a longer stay.

"SINNER TAKE ALL"

Odd clues, a sensational automobile wreck staged by a criminal, the roaring offices of a great newspaper, figure in the latest newspaper-detective romance of the screen, "Sinner Take All," which comes to the Cameron Theatre Tuesday, March 16.

Bruce Cabot and Margaret Lindsay play the romantic leads with artistry, and Joseph Calleia offers another of his individual "menace" portrayals. Excellent supporting roles are played by Stanley Ridges, Vivienne Osborne, Theodore Von Eltz, George Zucco, Raymond Hatton, Geo. Lynn, Edward Pawley, Louis Natheaux and Robert Emmet O'Conner.

"RACING LADY"

The story concerns a young and wealthy automobile manufacturer who is the last word in proficiency as a business man, but who has to take lessons in sportmanship from his girl horse trainer, whom he has learned to love.

The principals are supported by such screen notables as Berton Churchill, Ray Mayer, Frank M. Thomas, Harry Jans, Hattie McDaniels, Willie Best and Lew Payton.

Wallace Fox directed the production by William Sistrom.

A gripping race track drama, "Racing Lady" from the sparkling pen of Damon Runyon, comes to the Cameron Theatre Saturday, March 13, with Ann Dvorak and Smith Ballew paired as a romantic team and Harry Carey in an equally featured role.

"CRACK UP"

A powerful, fast-paced, thrill-filled melodrama of daring American flyers matching wits and courage with an international spy ring, "Crack Up," the Twentieth Century-Fox picture which comes to the Cameron Theatre Wednesday, March 17, maintains its suspense from the opening scenes right to the exciting and tensely dramatic climax.

The story deals with four men battling for stolen planes that mean a woman's happiness or disgrace—a nation's victory or defeat—featuring Peter Lore, Brian Donlevy, Helen Wood, Ralph Morgan and Thomas Beck.

"Crack Up" was directed by Malcolm St. Clair.

"PENNIES FROM HEAVEN"

"Swing with Bing in the gayest fun-show of the new season," is the slogan of the big, new musical hit, "Pennies From Heaven," co-starring Bing Crosby and Madge Evans coming to the Cameron Theatre Sunday and Monday, March 14 and 15.

Featured with Crosby is Louis Armstrong and his famous swing band.

"GO WEST, YOUNG MAN"

Mae West, most popular of all screen stars, is scheduled to appear at the Cameron Theatre Thursday and Friday, March 11 and 12, in "Go West, Young Man."

"CAVALRY"

Packed with thrills, excitement and adventure, "Cavalry," featuring Bob Steele and coming to the Milam Theatre Friday and Saturday, March 12 and 13, carries a thrill that every motion picture fan will want to enjoy.

EPISODE 7 - "THE EARTH TREMBLES"

News From MINERVA

Mrs. B. R. Thomas of Corsicana was a week-end guest of her sister, Mrs. Clarence Harris. She was accompanied home by Master Donald Harris, who will spend the week there.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Palmer and daughter, Margaret Jean, of Taylor visited friends here on Sunday.

Mrs. J. T. Underwood and children of Overton spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Cone.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald and children spent the week-end with relatives at Ft. Worth. Miss Irma Doss accompanied them home for a visit.

Mrs. George Helms and son, Gene, motored to Taylor on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pool and daughter, Miss Frances, of Marlin were week-end guests in the Tom Evard home.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Lucas were visitors in Waco on Saturday.

Miss Annie Marie Robinson of Friendship spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Robinson.

Miss Nan Sanders of Waco is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Ada Sanders.

Clayton Lucas, Ralph Hubert, Lee Jr., and Cliff Wallace have returned from Freer where they were employed.

Miss Sue Sanders visited in Waco on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Strength During MIDDLE LIFE

Strength is extra-important for women going through the change of life. Then the body needs the very best nourishment to fortify it against the changes that are taking place. In such cases, Cardui has proved helpful to many women. It increases the appetite and aids digestion, favoring more complete transformation of food into living tissue, resulting in improved nutrition and building up and strengthening of the whole system.

They Give and Take It for Old Villanova

Here you see Villanova's first line of defense—and attack, too—the college boxing team for 1937, as they received pointers from Coach Ray Gadsby (left).

Miss Lorene McKee has returned from an extended stay with relatives at Beaumont. She was accompanied home by her aunt, Mrs. Keith Wallace, who will spend several weeks here.

Mrs. Edna Ranney and daughters, Mary Elizabeth and Peggy Jo, of Moody spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McCullin and son. Miss Peggy Jo remained for a longer visit.

Misses Florence and Josephine Gibbs and Mrs. Jesse Gibbs of Yarrington visited Miss Maysell Gibbs on Saturday morning.

Woodrow Lowe and Miss Ray Fanning of Cameron and Miss Eloise Moss of Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Belton, visited in the G. C. Lucas home on Sunday afternoon.

Charles Fleming of Austin spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Fleming.

Mrs. Joe McKee of Corsicana joined her husband here for a week-end visit.

Mrs. M. G. Hickman and son Lee, of Overton visited Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Frotter and sons on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dud Currey and daughters motored to San Marcos on Sunday.

Miss Hazel Wilson of Waco spent last week-end with Miss Artie Fleming.

Word has been received here of the arrival of a baby daughter, Ana

Joan, to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Willingham of Ames, Iowa. Mrs. Willingham, before her marriage, was Miss Ruth Moore, who lived here several years ago.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Sunday, March 14th, the congregation is asked to worship with the Presbyterians in their church at 11 a. m.—Rev. J. P. Love will be the preacher.

Lenten Service at all Saints church Friday night, March 12th, at 7:30. Rev. Vernon Miles will preach on the subject, "Prayer Life of Christ our Example." Tuesday morning, March 16, Holy Communion at 9 o'clock.

First Flat Tire In 10 Years On City Fire Truck

Frank Richter, truck driver for the city fire department, had his first flat on the big fire truck in ten years Sunday night when he was called out to put out a fire that started in an automobile belonging to Grady Hughes.

The truck arrived at the fire in record time and checked the spreading flame with comparatively small damage. After the excitement was all over, one of the big tires that had been on the engine for ten years, blew out and went flat.

"ON TIME"

The punctual newspaper more nearly consummates the ideal of service.

That is why The Herald goes to its readers on Thursday morning.

Making plans to give our readers a good return on their investment in confidence, we naturally placed this feature—On Time—near the top of the list

In doing so it became necessary to break up the old rut routine of waiting on every slow poke in the community.

We found that the On Time newspaper is the most widely read and the greater appreciated.

It followed that some advertising patronage was lost, but there was gain both in the satisfaction of liberating this great old newspaper from the cob web shackles of discredited policies and streaking out in front where service opportunities lie.

Only this week business was turned away. Its value is not questioned.

The Herald, on the other hand did question whether late week end circulation could be an effective distribution for merchants who want to buy space.

Any policy that does not give 100 cents value for every dollar invested in these columns, is a stranger in Herald land.

Write us and tell us you like your paper on Thursday. Give us your cooperation, Mr. Business Man, and help us to help you.

Calvert Business Man Recalls Pioneer Times

By MARJORIE ROGERS

(Copyright, 1937, by the Home Color Print Co.)

NO PASSENGER trains operated in or out of Calvert, Texas, Sundays during pioneer days because most persons believed it sacrilegious to ride trains on the Sabbath day," said Winship Stedman Allen, pioneer business man of Calvert. "Wood was the fuel burned under locomotive boilers that pulled the first passenger trains into Calvert. The speed of these trains averaged less than 20 miles per hour."

Mr. Allen was born July 21, 1855, three miles from Jones Prairie, Milam county, Texas. At the age of 16 he moved to Calvert and went to work as clerk in the retail store of John Orr & Co. In 1888 he opened, at Calvert, a hardware store of his own. He was mayor protem of Calvert in 1899.

"During the Civil War my father, Alsey H. Allen, kept the postoffice at Willow Spring, not far from Calvert," said Mr. Allen. "He moved there in 1849, when this part of the country was a raw frontier, and built a two-story home of lumber hauled by ox-drawn wagons from Houston. Most homes in those days were one-story, built of hewn logs, hence a two-story home built of lumber was a rarity. "Willow Spring, formerly a famous watering place for Indians, was never known to go dry. When Indians were raiding around Salido, Bell county, Texas, back in the thirties, a family by the name of Smith hurriedly left there for Fort Nashville, near the present town of Hearne. Families living along the frontier had to seek the protection of forts when Indians began raiding. Fort Nashville was a stockade fort. However, before the Smiths could get safely within its walls they were overtaken and killed by Indians at Willow Spring on the very site where father built our home. The trunk of a dead hackberry tree in our yard was full of arrow heads, evidently shot into it by savages during target practice.

Courting at Church

"Young men did much of their courting at church. We attended Little River church, out from Calvert, near Jones Prairie. Entrance was through two doors, one for women and one for men. We took our sweethearts to one door and let them go in alone, for we were not allowed to sit with them. After church we met the girls outside at the women's entrance. Single and married men sat together on one side of the church; single and married women sat together on the other side. There was one bench directly in front of the pulpit for deacons and two benches, one on either side of the pulpit, for other prominent church members. These benches were known as the 'amen pew.' The preacher had the only song-book. He would repeat aloud the lines of a song—one line at a time—and the congregation would sing the line. A favorite hymn was, 'On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand.' Much of our pioneer social life centered around Little River church, now one of the oldest churches in the State.

"Our greatest fun was to have all-day preaching and dinner on the church ground. What wonderful things to eat—cooked in Dutch ovens or barbecue pits. Many of the women rode horse-back to church and wore long riding-skirts that almost touched the ground. Girls blushed easily in those days. If a young lady caught a man looking at the toe of her shoe, which had slipped out from beneath her skirt, she jerked her foot back quickly and blushed. We always accompanied young ladies to hitching posts and helped them on their horses.

Large Pioneer Town

"I went to school at old Port Sullivan College in 1868-9. Port Sullivan, situated between Cameron and Hearne, was then the largest town in that section of Texas. The college stood at the edge of town in a clump of trees. It was a square wooden building, about two stories high. Large halls divided the building on each floor, and the rooms were heated by fireplaces. There were rooms for student boarders and teachers. C. S. DuBose was principal when I attended the school. Students were mainly boys and girls from the homes of well-to-do planters who co-operated in erecting the school building. When Professor Chapin, a Northern man, came to teach he nearly broke up the school. He was a Yankee and at that time there was much prejudice against Yankees. But he won the students over by introducing baseball, a new game to us boys. We had been playing 'town ball' and 'bull pen' only."

Mr. Allen was 10 years old when the war ended between the North and the South. Though a mere lad, he was shocked at the bedraggled appearance of Southern soldiers returning home after Lee's surrender. He said:

"They wore ragged, homespun uniforms, and most of them were unable to buy 'jeans' to make pants or over-shirts because it cost from $10 to $12 a yard. All kinds of merchandise was selling for about ten times its usual price. Women folk at home had been spinning and weaving cloth and making it into garments for the men in the armies. They even made hats for the soldiers. A woman instructor came to our community and showed the women how to plait a certain reed, resembling palmetto, and shape it into hats. This reed came from the swamps of Louisiana. Our women fitted the hats on block moulds that they made at home. Every few weeks the instructor came along, collected the hats and sent them on to army camps. Women worked hard to keep their families, slaves and the soldiers fighting at the front in clothes. There were no major battles in Texas, so we suffered less privation than other Southern States. After the war, all those financially able had to help take making and gathering crops because there was no money to pay farm labor." Mr. Allen said when he first moved to Calvert it was a great trading center. The big plantation owners would load their cotton, corn, hides, wool and other produce in large wagons, drawn by oxen, and have trusty negroes drive them to Houston, where the produce was sold. Then the wagons would be reloaded at Houston with supplies of sugar, coffee, flour, dry goods, etc., and driven back to Calvert.

Fancy Leg Top Boots Stylish

"We all bought our boots from E. Contz who had the first shoe shop in Calvert," continued Mr. Allen. "All of the cowboys bought boots from him. It was the fad for men to wear high-heel boots that made their feet look small. We paid Mr. Contz $15 to $20 a pair for French calf-tongue boots care of war widows and their children. "Our home was a public stopping place for returning soldiers. Sometimes there would be as many as 15 or 20 for a single meal. They carried their own bedding; if cold we let them sleep in the ginning house which was 40 feet square and full of loose cotton.

Soldiers Almost Barefooted

"Some of the soldiers were almost barefooted and all of them poorly clad. During the last months of the war many of them lived on parched corn. When they did get cornmeal it was coarse and the bacon rancid. The few vegetables they ate were given them by kind-hearted sympathizers. Confederate money was no good. Only families who had saved gold coins were able to buy medicines and necessary food supplies. Most of the gold was kept in small trunks with secret bottoms.

"The Yankees maintained a regiment at Cameron, Texas, after the war to hold down the Ku Klux Klan and to enforce the Freedman's Bureau for protection of negroes who had been freed. The Klan was very active and all ex-Confederates belonged to it. We did not have any trouble with negroes in our community. We did have trouble with quilted Morocco leg tops. The tops were quilted in colored roses and other designs. When we put on those fancy boots and went to church we felt mighty dressed up. After plantations took the place of cattle-ranges, the boot business declined and Mr. Contz went into the grocery business."

According to Mr. Allen, Calvert was almost depopulated by yellow fever in 1873. The disease was brought to town by a traveling tramp printer from Louisiana, where the fever raged. He took a room over a restaurant in the Bailey building and died there. Believing yellow fever germs would be spread by the mattress on which the printer died, the town authorities ordered the mattress put out in the open to air and sun. They did not then know that a certain kind of mosquito spread yellow fever. During the epidemic, trains were not allowed to stop in Calvert and coach windows were closed when trains passed through the town. About 400 citizens died of the plague.

Mr. Allen is the father of two daughters—Mrs. Conway Anderson, of Calvert, and Mrs. Robert W. Mayo, of Dallas. Although getting up in years, Mr. Allen is 81—he is mentally and physically alert, enjoys good health and thinks life well worth living.

Chasing the Gray Timber Wolf

By FREDERICK GIPSON

305 W. 19th St., Austin, Texas.

(Copyright, 1937, by the Home Color Print Co.)

OX-CHASING with hounds is a popular sport in East Texas and wolf-chasing with hounds is a popular sport in West Texas.

The boys I hunted with were not interested in catching coyotes but gray timber wolves, the predatory kind, that kill cattle, sheep and young colts. The male of this specie is noted for strength and ferocity, and sometimes will kill off a small herd of sheep or goats in a single night. When brought to bay, he fights viciously and you are lucky if your hounds are not slashed in pieces by his powerful jaws. Not all hounds will face a gray wolf or fight it out with him.

Our best wolf-hunting hound was

For 12 long hours we rode hard, trying to keep up with those hounds. Sometimes we lost them. Our horses had good staying qualities, but even at that we were compelled to take short cuts. When pursued by hounds a wolf in a rough country runs in circles most of the time, around ridges. By cutting across ridges we saved distance and the wind of our horses.

The race had been going on several hours—neither hounds nor wolf gaining an advantage. The wolf's strategy often threw the hounds off trail, but soon one of them would pick up the scent again, and on they would go.

We had just topped another ridge, when the cry of the hounds was heard a mile to our right. This time the wolf ran five straight miles, circled back

Falcon Leads the Pack

Falcon led the pack. They didn't yelp much and for that reason it was hard to follow them. After a 4-mile chase, we lost the hounds, but felt sure the wolf would hit Llano river somewhere near Castelle. Knowing the habits of wolves, we figured this one would not cross the Llano, but circle back near the little German settlement of Art. We rode in that direction.

Finally daylight came and no sound of dogs. We again began to doubt our calculations. All of a sudden Uncle Claude's bay horse wheeled toward the north and threw up his head. We couldn't see or hear a thing, but we knew, from the way the horse acted, that he had heard the hounds. Horses have a keener sense of hearing than humans.

We mounted and rode north. Sure enough, we hadn't gone two miles until we heard Old Fan and her bunch whooping it up across a mesquite flat a mile away.

We now realized we were running a very smart wolf—able to baffle the hounds and throw them off scent by back-tracking and crossing up his trail.

Thus the chase kept up all morning—back and forth, around and over ridges—discouraging part of the time but thrilling most of the time. Again and again we lost the hounds, guessed wrong, and looked like we were licked. Nevertheless we knew the country and knew how to chase wolves. He was our meat if the dogs held fast to the trail.

Caught at Last

By noon we were in the prickly pear and bee myrtle country north of Mason. At 3 in the afternoon we were back on Mason Mountains again. We must have covered 50 miles the last 12 hours. No telling how many miles hounds and wolf covered, as they ran circles most of the time.

Luckily we were close in when Falcon crowded the wolf into a live oak thicket atop Mason Mountains and bayed him, not far from where we struck his trail at 3 in the morning. Although a mile away, we could hear Falcon's deep bay distinctly. It sounded mighty sweet to a bunch of tired and hungry hunters. Soon as we rode up the wolf broke to run. This was just what Falcon, Fan and the other hounds wanted. The wolf had hardly cleared the brush when Falcon grabbed him in the hams and threw him down. As he got on his feet, another hound caught him and threw him down. The wolf tried to wheel and slash the hounds but they would quickly turn him loose and jump out of his reach. They knew better than to hold those hams. By pulling this trick a few times, the dogs had the wolf worried. Finally Old Fan threw him to the ground hard and he rolled over. Falcon grabbed him by the throat—and that was the end of the worst sheep-killing gray timber wolf that ever roamed Mason county.

"The dogs passed us, heads up, running in the wind of the wolf."

"Old Fan." She was hard to beat when it came to hitting a wolf's trail and staying with it to the end. Fast and keen-scented, she could run a wolf 12 hours without fatigue.

Fan was a Hudspeith hound pup that Carl Frenzel, of Mason, bought and had shipped to him from the East. Later he traded her to John Moulder, of Katemey. We bought her for $5, kept her three years and during that time she and her pups caught 33 wolves in and around Mason county.

Fan trained her own pups and trained them well. She would take them out alone and run a trail for hours. This was done to discipline and harden the pups.

The most exciting and toughest wolf-hunt I ever experienced was with Old Fan and her last bunch of pups. But this time the pups did most of the running. Fan was getting old.

We named her last pups "Falcon," "Bobbie," "White Man" and "Ring." Two of the pups were the fastest and smartest we ever raised.

Striking the Wolf's Trail

About 3 o'clock one morning four of us wolf-hunters, riding good horses, struck an old gray wolf's trail at Mud Spring, Mason county. Fan, as usual, hit the trail first and headed out across a blackjack ridge toward Mason Mountains. Her pups nosed in behind her and headed toward the post oak country near Castelle.

"He'll pass through the Willingham Roughs," said Uncle Claude. So we lit out in that direction.

Jumping Barb Wire Fences

There were about 15 miles of broken country between us and the Willingham Roughs and a dozen barb wire fences. When coming to a wire fence, one of us threw a jacket across the wire so our horses could see it—then we jumped the horses over the fence, and on we would go. Each horse was in fine fettle and seemed to enjoy the chase as much as we hunters. The 15-mile run to the Roughs was made in a little over an hour.

We halted in the Roughs long enough to let our horses blow, and to eat a sandwich.

Not a hound was heard and we began to doubt our calculations. Maybe Mr. Wolf had escaped hounds and hunters. Then Uncle Claude cupped his ear and said, "Listen, boys!" Clearly out of the dawn came faint yelps of Falcon, followed by voices of Fan and Bobbie. On came hounds and wolf, headed straight toward us. Pretty soon we caught a glimpse of the wolf through an opening as he swung to the left and disappeared in tangle of scrub oak. The dogs passed us, heads up, running in the wind of the wolf. We cut our horses in behind at a brisk gallop.

A Rural School Standardized

By AVIS PLATTER

Route 1, Edgewood, Texas.

(Copyright, 1937, by the Home Color Print Co.)

WHEN the 1935-36 Willow Springs (Van Zandt county) school opened our county superintendent said the rural schools must standardize within the next year or two or run the risk of having their pupils taken into town in a bus. There was already a bus line for the convenience of students attending the Edgewood high school. None of our folks wanted their children to attend a town school.

The first thing needed seemed to be a Parent Teachers' Association. Consequently, Willow Springs sent for our Van Zandt county organizers, Mrs. L. L. Elam, of Edgewood, and Mrs. Ellis Campbell, of Wills Point, who duly organized a P. T. A. At first we had fifteen paid members but later reached a quota of thirty.

The main objective held before us by our president and executive committee was standardization of our school.

We were all working together for a common cause, consequently it was easier to get co-operation from every source.

"Certain things must be done, and then so many points would be awarded each accomplishment," we were told. The grounds needed improving. Playground equipment was to score several points. The school principal, Kenneth Mills, suggested the grounds be looked after first.

Beautifying the School Grounds

Accordingly, the body met one Friday soon after school started with hoes, rakes, scrapers and plows. Trees were trimmed evenly and whitewashed. Vegetation hoed down, raked into piles and burned. Low places leveled up and high places scraped down. Walks were thrown up from the road to the school house and from the school house to the well and to all outbuildings. A driveway was made in front in shape of a half moon, bordered with evergreen hedge. A hedge was also set out along the eaves of the school house. A large flower bed was arranged on each side of the walk to the road in the shape of a star. Beds were marked with brick. Then it was agreed to set out four apple vider bushes, one at each corner of the school house.

The next thing done was to get a flag pole, put it up and raise a U. S. flag.

Funds were needed to buy playground equipment. There must be four kinds of equipment to chart up the necessary score. How were we to raise funds?

We started with a box and pie supper. Girls of the community made a novel affair of the supper. Some of them made boxes to represent pioneer times, such as covered wagons, buffalo, and log cabins made of ribbon cane. Some models represented modern times, such as radios, autos and airplanes. The pie supper was a success. Pioneer boxes sold for higher prices than modern boxes. The pies were sold after the boxes. A big huckleberry cobbler brought $1.50.

Popularity Contest

A popularity contest followed the pie supper. The most popular girl received a box of chocolates while the most popular boy received a half dozen lemons. The last thing brought forward was a baked opossum with sweet taters. It was sold by "English bid," and brought $3.10. Everything combined sold for $32.50.

Next step was ciling the floors. Oil was bought out of school funds. A heavy liquid was poured directly on the floor, spread with brooms and left to soak into the wood.

Some very nice lunch shelves were built by the principal, Mr. Mills, who possessed the rare ability to put an artistic touch to his work. The ma-

CURRENT (EDITORIAL) COMMENT

By R. L. PASCHAL

(Copyright, 1937, by the Home Color Print Co.)

High Taxes

WE Americans taught King George III, of England, a good lesson about taxes. He made us put a government stamp upon every deed and business paper to make it valid; he put a tax on tea, but our people threw his tea into Boston harbor and went back to sassafras. Since that time Americans have been supposed to be touchy about taxes. But are we? We complain a little when the tax-gatherer comes around, then go to the polls and vote new bond issues or elect men to the legislature to increase the number of officials, boards and commissions, thereby adding more tax burdens.

Everywhere taxes have reached a new high peak. The Texas Tax Journal tells us that our annual tax bill amounts to $51.49 for every one of the 6,000,000 people in Texas. The total is $308,944,470. Of this huge sum, $127,892,235 goes to the State; $107,271,189 to counties, cities, and districts, and $74,581,046 to the national government. This does not include any amount collected under the voided AAA; nor does it include indirect taxes, largely tariff duties, added to the cost of goods we buy. These taxes would increase our bill by at least $100,000,000.

Our people usually pay taxes—if not cheerfully, at least without much grumbling. The reason is they recognize that much of the tax they pay comes to them in benefits and services which could not be got so cheap in any other way. We all want good schools, smooth safe highways, and are willing to pay for them. We want able judges and State attorneys, and are willing to pay them and sheriffs and policemen to protect our lives and property.

The Texas Almanac lists 108 State officials, boards, and commissions. Our big State capitol long since became too small to house them; the State erected a building for the Land Office; other boards and commissions are accommodated in buildings privately owned, the rental of which costs us many thousands of dollars annually. Some of these boards, such as the State Board of Health, look after the health of citizens of the State; others serve special groups or districts. We wonder if some of these boards could not be consolidated and if others might not be abolished with no great loss to the people of the State.

While members of some of the boards serve without pay, most of them get substantial salaries. In the aggregate they cost us a pretty figure for salaries, offices and expenses. The tendency is to increase the services of the State to its citizens, with a consequent increase in tax to pay for new boards. It is no wonder that Governor Allred feels forced to ask the legislature for $12,000,000 more of new tax money.

We have of late adopted amendments to our Constitution providing for old-age pensions and teacher retirement funds. The State must supply the money for these funds. The only way to get it is to levy additional taxes.

Checking Floods

After a series of great floods in the Mississippi valley, our government recognized that something had to be done to control the waters in that stream or else much of the most fertile land in the country would be abandoned. Under the direction of army engineers, levees have been constructed which, it is hoped, will keep that river in its banks. The late disaster in the valley of the Ohio and the Mississippi have shocked the country into further serious thought about control of floods.

Boake Carter in his radio talks said floods are caused by man's disturbance of the balance of nature—that he has ploughed up the virgin prairies and cut down the virgin forests; that before white men came and did these things floods were no serious menace, for grass and timber held back rushing waters, slowly letting them trickle into creek and river beds.

Mr. Carter is but partly right about this. Long before white men entered the wilderness, the process of silting up rivers had been going on for countless ages. Geologists tell us that the mouth of the Mississippi was once at St. Louis; that alluvial soil in the delta of this river has been built up by silt brought down by tributaries, and that the delta is still being extended into the Gulf of Mexico by deposits of a cubic mile of silt each year.

In some way man must assist nature if we are to avoid floods in the future. Scientists are giving much thought to the problem, but they cannot control rainfall, and the building of levees will not stop floods. Every man that owns land may help by building little dams to impound water. It will perhaps pay him to do so. Every farm needs much water.

But dams, however adequate they may be for the present, are in themselves a temporary expedient unless something is done to prevent erosion. Our soil is now washing down into streams and lakes made by dams, and the streams and lakes will soon fill with silt unless erosion is stopped. Many can remember when the big dam was built across the Colorado river at Austin; the silt deposited above this dam now reaches nearly to its top.

Our government is doing all it can to enlist farmers in a campaign to stop soil erosion. It has specialists and engineers to tell how this may be done. Of course, the primary object is to keep the soil from washing away, and in doing this much water is checked in its onward rush to creeks and rivers. It is much more difficult to prevent erosion of some soils than others, but the government must have the whole-hearted co-operation of us all if floods are to be checked.

Two New Industries Projected for Texas

Most of Texas' virgin forests are gone. On lands denuded of trees by lumbermen and abandoned fields second-growth pine has sprung up. This second-growth, or "old-field" pine, has not been considered of much value, since it makes an inferior grade of lumber. But now science has found a way of making newsprint paper from this pine. A large mill for this purpose, to be erected in East Texas, has already been projected.

The domestic supply of spruce used to make wood pulp, long since exhausted, has forced us to import much of our newsprint from Canada. Total newsprint imports from all countries in 1936, amounted to 2,751,580 tons, compared with 2,383,315 tons in 1935. The Canadian spruce is a comparatively small tree, ten acres of trees being required to print the Sunday edition of a single New York newspaper. Texas has millions of "old-field" pines; as these grow to a larger size than spruce, our supply for newsprint is practically inexhaustible. It is said that cottonwood, which grows abundantly along our streams, makes good paper also. Farmers, especially those in Eastern Texas, may soon have a new source of income from second-growth pine.

It has long been known that some of the rocks in Western Texas contain potash. During the World War, when our farmers could not get potash from Germany, American scientists tried to find cheap methods of extracting potash from ores, but were unsuccessful. The ores then known were comparatively poor in potash. About twelve years ago Mr. Max Agrest discovered a bed of polyhalite rich in potash. It is a big bed, computed to contain 57,000,000 tons. It lies in the counties of Midland, Crane, and Upton, Texas.

Dr. E. P. Schoch, of the University of Texas, has discovered a method of breaking potash-bearing ore down into three minerals, all of them valuable, so that not a pound of the ore is wasted. These minerals are sulphate of potash, magnesium carbonate, and a very superior hard plaster. The sulphate of potash is the most valuable of the salts of potassium and is more easily available as plant food than any other of the salts; magnesium carbonate is used in electric insulation.

The Schoch method, tested for several months in a model plant capable of processing 500 tons a day, makes it possible to produce potash more cheaply than ever before. This is good news for farmers. Next to ammonia or nitrogen, potash is the most costly ingredient of commercial fertilizers.

Texas' second-growth pines and potash beds and the industries ultimately developed therefrom will help to reduce unemployment and add much to our wealth.

War in Spain

The war in Spain seems to have reached a stage of battle mainly between European forces. The nations engaged are Spanish, Russians and a comparatively small number of French volunteers on the side of the government. Spanish rebels, Germans, Italians and thousands of Moors are on the side of the Fascists.

Just how many Russian soldiers are engaged in Spain is not known; the number has been placed at 30,000. On the side of the rebels there are 6,000 to 10,000 Moors, probably 30,000 Germans and not so many Italians, although we read of the landing of thousands of Italians from time to time.

A correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says that Seville, Salamanca, and other Spanish cities held by the rebels are full of Germans. The German technicians and generals as well as the common soldiers are there in force, and these cities are alive with war industries under German direction.

Although Germany and Italy did not send soldiers to Spain until Franco was foiled in his attempt to overthrow the Government, yet all along they have been supplying arms and ammunition. Both countries claim that they desire no territory at Spain's expense, and that their only interest is to keep down communism in Spain. The Government denies it is communistic, and points out that it was elected by a free vote of the people and is subject to the will of the people. If the Government wins out in this war, it will probably be much more nearly communistic than at first, for the bitter experience with Fascism may drive it to the other extreme.

Madrid, under continual aerial bombardment for months, is partly in ruins and thousands of its citizens have been killed by bursting shells. The food supply of this once fair city is almost exhausted and death by starvation faces many survivors.

Spain's civil war may soon near an end, because 21 nations have framed an international agreement to stop all flow of foreign volunteers to Spanish battlefields, including a 6-power naval blockade, effective March 6th, that will draw a tight cordon around this warring nation.

We of the United States are glad to be living in a democracy where issues are settled at the ballot box and not on the field of battle.

Regal Spring

March reminds us that regal Spring is here. The first calendar spring day this year is March 20th.

Let us keep our eyes open if we would add to our knowledge, our joy, and adjust ourselves to the awakening world around us. There are a thousand rejuvenating things to see. If our eyes are sharp, we may learn what flowers bloom earliest, when buds on the trees burst into leaves, and what trees bloom before their leaves appear. The flowers of the elm have already come and gone, quite interesting, but not showy, so we may not have observed them, yet many of the flowers to come will be glorious.

The insects at this season are a source of endless wonder. Paul might well have used them to explain the resurrection. Last fall a big, ugly caterpillar wove himself a silken cocoon for a winter home, but something wonderful goes on in that cocoon; he is going to come out a brilliant-hued butterfly. The grubs you find in the ground will soon take to the air dressed up more gaily than Solomon in all his glory.

The ducks and wild geese are returning north; you hear their honk, even at night. Great caravans of robins may stop with you for a visit if you have hackberries on which they may feed; a pair or two may even decide to spend the summer with you if you live in Northern Texas and have a pool of water where they can bathe and get mud to daub their nests. The cedar birds, or wax wings, gay top-knotted little fellows, may settle in your trees for a rest, or sport in mighty companies in the air for your delight. The red bird, or cardinal grosbeak, has not been altogether silent since December, but his song is now more joyous. The jay-bird is becoming bolder and saucier every day. The mocking bird will soon be regaling us with happy outbursts of uncontrollable song. He gets so happy at times that he flits upward out of a tree into the air in a full sweep of melody; he cannot sleep at night for joy. He is singing love-notes to his mate.

Influenza

No one knows how long mankind has been scourged by recurrent epidemics of influenza. Physicians do know that infantile paralysis and arthritis were common diseases in ancient Egyptian times. The bones of mummies give that information. We do know, however, that in historic times there have been many epidemics of influenza. One of the worst was about 1890. At that time we called it lagrippe. It came to Galveston on a ship, and from that point spread like wild-fire to every section of our country. The next great epidemic was 1917-18, when it appeared in virulent form and took a great toll of human life. We have not been free from it since. For the past few months there has been an epidemic, rather in mild form, of the disease both in this country and in Europe. Otherwise it is running true to form—spreading rapidly. The Germans call it "Blitz-katarrh," or "lightning cold."

No lightning needs a doctor's diagnosis to prove that influenza is more than a common cold. Physicians know that it is communicated from person to person and believe that it is a germ disease, but they never have been able to see the germ under the most powerful microscope. Until they succeed in isolating the influenza germ, the only wise thing to do is to isolate the influenza sufferer.

FIRE CHIEFS' FIRE WARNING

Fire chiefs have issued a general warning against burning trash when high winds are blowing. Sparks from burning trash, grass or leaves may blow over a wide area and cause great loss from spreading fire.

Much trash-burning is done during spring time, hence the warning.

Grass Root Reveries

By JOE GANDY

(Copyright, 1937, by the Home Color Print Co.)

AND here is March again. We usually have lots of wind in March, but it takes lots of wind to run our business these days. We always start in with high hopes, regardless of drouths, floods, army worms or flea hoppers. Our hopes are about all we got to live for. A poet has said that "hope springs eternal in the human breast." But he's wrong. Along in May, when we get spring fever, our eternal hope runs down and the only way to rewind it is to dig a can of worms, cut a willow pole and go fishin'.

Somebody has counted the grass-hoppers' eggs and said that we are going to have a bumper crop of grasshoppers this year. Well, that is nothing to get excited about. Maybe they all won't hatch. Somebody is always predicting something bad. But let's hope somebody will discover something that grasshoppers are good for. If they never do, a lot of hopping will go to waste.

Slot machines are getting a black eye, both right and left. We have just seen one torn up and studied its mechanism. The man who made it was a philosopher and knew human nature. He knew that most folks are trying to get something for nothing and that a sucker is born every minute.

When 90 per cent of the people start living in trailers, maybe the other 10 per cent can make a living running filling stations.

An inventor claims to have invented a machine that will think. Now, I claim we are getting somewhere. People who never think can buy one of these machines and let it do their thinking. It can decide for them whether they want 9 or 15 supreme court judges and whether it is best to plant potatoes in the dark or the light of the moon.

"Chain yourself to his desk until he makes the loan."

A man who was pronounced dead, but came back to life, said being dead was a very lovely experience—that it brought him great peace and contentment. It may be, but we are willing to take his word for it and make out on less peace and less contentment.

A man who experienced the thrill that comes with a first grandbaby has been swamped with literature on how to raise grandbabies. After studying it all carefully his greatest wonder is how babies 50 years ago ever managed to get grown without the aid of the government, old maid aunts, and the radio. He says we have a most wonderful government. It will assist you in every undertaking from the cradle to the grave, but after a comparison he believes the old-fashioned grandmothers can beat any government raising children.

When a new fad breaks out, people go to the extreme with it, like chimney sitters, tree sitters and so forth. But since the sit down strike, people have been sitting down on everything when they can't get what they want. The latest is the young man who sat down on his girl until she agreed to marry him. He even went so far as to chain himself to a radiator in her home,

Civic and Domestic Problems

By Bernard Dibble

BRIEF TEXAS NEWS---from Over the State

638,000 TEXANS COVERED BY UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

The estimated number of industrial and commercial employes covered by the State unemployment compensation law in Texas during 1936 is 638,000, the Social Security Board has announced.

$5,000,000 ART COLLECTION GIVEN U. OF T.

Five million dollars worth of fine art treasures, collected by his mother during her lifetime, was presented to the University of Texas by J. H. Litcher Stark, of Orange.

PAY BOUNTY FOR PREDATORY ANIMALS

The Comal County Wolf Club recently employed two trappers to assist farmers and ranchmen in exterminating predatory animals preying upon their sheep and goats. The club and county commissioners court pay a bounty.

MOTHER AT 14

Texas is not so far behind Tennessee and New Jersey when it comes to a girl mother. Mrs. Ellis Jasper, age 14, who lives with her husband at 218 Dulling Court, San Antonio, was presented with a fine baby girl December, 1936. She eloped and married March 2, 1936, at Boerne, Texas.

TENTATIVELY ALLOTTED $8,593,000 SECURITY FUND

Estimates submitted to the House appropriation committee at Washington reveal that Texas has been tentatively allotted $8,593,000 of Federal funds to carry on the Social Security program in the State during the fiscal year starting July 1st.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR GENERAL STEELE

Memorial services for Gen. A. L. Steele, Confederate veteran and son of Alonzo Steele, who fought at the Battle of San Jacinto, were held February 9th at Houston by members of the Dick Dowling Camp, U. C. V.

TEXAS THIRD IN NON-FEDERAL PROJECT FUNDS

The Public Works Administration has disclosed figures which show that Texas received the third largest amount of Federal funds for non-Federal Public Works projects. Allotments to Texas included $32,163,241 in direct grants and $18,327,265 in loans.

PINK-EYED OPOSSUM GIVEN ZOO

A pink-eyed opossum was presented to the Hermann Park Zoo, Houston, by James Smith, Brenham farmer. "This Brenham possum is a true Albino—the only Albino possum I ever saw," said Hans Nagel, zookeeper. Smith said he was hunting on the Brazos river when he saw the white possum and caught it alive.

CRA'S FLOOD CONTROL PROGRAM

The C. R. A.'s flood control program is said to be the largest government financed project in the Southwest, costing about $20,000,000. Marshall Ford dam, 18 miles northwest of Austin, ultimately may cost $18,000,000. Federal agencies have recommended an additional $8,000,000 appropriation.

HOME-MADE AUTO

Dan Flynn, a youngster of Cleburne, must be a mechanical genius. He made a "toy" automobile that will run 12 miles an hour. His auto, among other things, has the following parts:
A washing machine engine for power.
An apple box-coaster wagon chassis.
A pint fruit-jar for a gasoline tank.
A cardboard motor hood.
Flynn is reported to have made the car in his backyard in three days.

HOME ALMOST 100 YEARS OLD

The Italy News-Herald has this to say about an old Ellis county home, built almost 100 years ago:
"The old Addison Wardlaw ranch house, located about seven miles west of Italy, has stood for almost 100 years. Built of logs hewn from native trees which grew along Bee creek and covered with clapboards with a chimney built of rocks selected from the hills about the place, the old house, with few additions, such as side rooms, stands today as one of the relics of frontier times."

BIENNIAL EXPENDITURE FOR EDUCATION

Expenditure of $85,100,674 during the biennium ended August 31, 1936, for public education in Texas, of which $72,760,000 was for schools, was reported by State Auditor Tom King.

The University of Texas and the colleges received $12,340,000. State participation in the cost of free schools was slightly more than 50 per cent compared with an average for the United States of 26 per cent.

SMOKED SAUSAGE AND RIBBON CANE SYRUP SENT PRESIDENT

President Roosevelt's palate has been tickled with Texas smoked country sausage and Texas ribbon cane syrup. These delicacies were a recent gift from H. N. Gibbs, local merchant of Jasper, (Jasper county).

WOMAN DEPUTY SHERIFF

Miss Viola Kulhanek has been appointed deputy sheriff of Waller county. She is young, athletic and was taught how to handle firearms by her father, Joe Kulhanek, with whom she frequently hunted. She graduated from the Waller high school in 1934.

WOMAN TRAPPER

Women have about proven to the world they can do anything a man can do. As further proof, Mrs. Tom Blasingame rides a 10-mile trap line horseback through rugged Panhandle canyons every morning. She specializes in catching coyotes, skinning and marketing her own furs.

PRODUCED OWN FOOD

D. P. Trent, regional director of the resettlement program, said that out of approximately 30,000 families who were included in the resettlement program last year 16,234 produced sufficient vegetables for their own use, 19,044 produced sufficient milk and 17,975 produced sufficient poultry. Most of the families had been on relief in 1935.

BURIED ABOVE GROUND

San Fernando cemetery No. 1, on South San Marcos Street, San Antonio, is the most unique cemetery in Texas because most of the dead are buried in vaults above ground. This was the custom of burial in that city in early days. Members of the most prominent pioneer families are interred in the cemetery.

TWO OLD COMMUNITIES TO DISAPPEAR BENEATH LAKE

Two of the oldest communities in Llano county, Bluffton and Tow Valley, settled in the early 50's, several years before Llano county was organized, will soon be inundated by the huge lake to be formed by Buchanan dam, which is now nearing completion in the Colorado river between Llano and Burnet.

PET DEER DELIVERS MAIL

"Billy," a pet buck deer, delivers mail for the family of Oscar Kohleffel, a farmer, living near Weimer, Colorado county. Each morning "Billy" meets T. J. Green, rural mail carrier, at the box a half mile from the Kohleffel home. Green ties the mail to the deer's collar and it dashes for the house. Kohleffel adopted the young stag last spring when it came near his farm in quest of food.

14 DEEP WATER PORTS

Texas now has 14 deep water ports, as follows:
Houston, Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Orange, Texas City, Freeport, Corpus Christi, Port Aransas, Sabine Pass, Port Isabel, Port Neches, Port Bolivar and Brownsville.
Total exports through all these ports in 1934 totaled 8,325,964 tons, with an aggregate value of $339,652,688.

RESETTLEMENT FARM NEAR SAN JACINTO BATTLEFIELD

"Sam Houston Farm" is the official designation of the resettlement administration's 83-farm project now in process of development 20 miles east of Houston. These farms, ranging in size from 40 to 70 acres, will be sold on long-time terms to tenant farmers selected from 12 to 14 counties nearest to the spot where Sam Houston led his army to victory over Santa Anna.

MORE SKILL TO CATCH 'EM WITH WORMS

Jack Sparks, the leading expert artificial bait fisherman of the Southwest, says it takes more skill to catch fish with live than with artificial bait.
"Today some anglers frown on the fellow who uses minnows, worms, and the like on game fish," argues Sparks, "they call it a lowly practice. But it actually takes more real skill to catch them with live bait than it does with any artificial bait ever conceived."

NATION'S SHORTEST OFFICIAL HIGHWAY

Highway 219 is the nation's shortest officially designated highway. It is two blocks long and leads to the grave of General Sam Houston at Huntsville.

OUTSMARTS THE COYOTES

Lee Mullins, veteran trapper of Ward county, claims that he and his partner have killed 135 coyotes since December, 1936. The State pays a bounty of 50 cents for each coyote pelt.

NICKEL WAS WORTH $50

Gerald Phillips, of Childress, "ran across" a nickel that he sold for $50. It was one of the 1913 Liberty head nickels, of which only 20 are said to have been coined before Uncle Sam's mint changed to the buffalo type nickel.

CAT CAUSED DIVORCE ACTION

Filed in a Dallas court recently was a novel kind of divorce suit. The wife, asking to be released from her marriage vows, complained that the husband hit her with a Persian kitty. The cat weighed five pounds, her petition averred, and badly bruised and clawed the plaintiff.

INDEPENDENT STORES SHOW SALES GAIN

Retail sales in the 716 independent stores in Texas showed a substantial gain in December of last year as compared with the same month in 1935, the Bureau of the Census announced recently from Washington.

All cities in Texas which have populations in excess of 2500 showed sales amounting to $5,274,300. Cities with populations of 2499 and less showed $1,095,300.

COYOTE CAUGHT ON FISHING LINE

The Edinburgh Review prints the following unusual story:

"The strangest story of them all was told Monday by J. D. Dobson, Harold Allen, Harold Jeffries and Chet Wheelock. They reported that they caught a coyote on a fishing line at Padre Island Sunday afternoon.

"The men had left their fishing tackle on the sands while they searched for bait. When they returned one set of tackle was missing and nearby, entangled with the tackle in a bush, was a coyote. They tied the animal to a piling at the bathhouse, but it escaped during the night."

DYNAMITING THE CROWS

Wheeler county commissioners' court has met the crow menace with dynamite. Roosts of the crows are located during the day, while the birds are feasting on the farmers' crops, and dynamite bombs placed 10 to 12 feet apart on the limbs of trees where the crows roost. Then, after the crows have settled down for the night on the roosts, the bombs are discharged from central wires that have been strung several hundred feet from the roosts. About 65 of the bombs are used for each blast. It is estimated about 200,000 crows have been killed in this manner in Wheeler county during the past six months.

SAM HOUSTON INCIDENT

W. S. Brown, age 85, a pioneer citizen and former mayor of Round Rock, tells this incident about Gen. Sam Houston:

"I was operating a wagon and buggy factory at Webberville (Travis county). News got around that General Sam Houston was in town and that folks were peeved at him. There was talk of secession and Houston was strong against it. I took off up the street, followed the crowd, and edged right on through until I could almost touch the general.

"Directly he drew himself up to his full height. I remember as well as if it were yesterday. He raised his hand like he was giving a signal to fire a cannon. Then he said, 'Boys, don't go out of the Union. Don't desert that flag. Sure as you do you're a whipped nation.'"

"The crowd was all against him and he got in his buggy and rode on into Austin. Shortly afterwards Texas voted for secession. I still think he was the greatest man that ever crossed the Sabine river."

$511,163 FOR FLOOD RELIEF

The American Red Cross announced that Texas' contribution to Ohio and Mississippi flood relief, up to February 12th, was $511,163.

WOULD ABOLISH POLL TAX

A constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax and substitute a registration system has been offered by Senator Claud C. Westerfeld of Dallas. The amendment also has been proposed in the House.

SAVE THE NUT TREES

County Agent King, of Lavaca county, says people make a mistake to destroy pig nut trees, which bear a nut resembling pecans, but are too bitter to eat. The trunk of these trees can be budded to thin-shell pecans, declares King.

CLAIMS TO BE 117 YEARS OLD

The San Antonio Light recently published a story about Mrs. Vinenta Verrarial, who says she is 117 years old and has borne 20 children, six of whom are still living. A son, 85 years old, lives at Laredo. Mrs. Verrarial lives at 109 Morales Street, San Antonio. She likes to sew and can thread her own needle. Her hair, first black and then white, is now turning black again.

DALLAS FIRE LOSSES IN ONE YEAR $589,900

One Texas city—Dallas—had 671 fires in 1936. Total fire losses were $589,900, a 20 per cent increase over 1935. Careless smokers caused most of the fires; next in order were loosely connected gas stoves, open fires, defective flues and chimneys. Deaths resulting from the fires were 27; injuries 31.

50-CENT PIECE COINS TO COMMEMORATE ALAMO HEROES

Bills have been introduced in Congress to authorize coinage of special 50-cent pieces to commemorate heroes of the Alamo. Proceeds go to the Alamo Mission Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Texas for improvements at the Alamo shrine in San Antonio.

HAS LIVED UNDER THREE FLAGS

Mrs. Jane O'Neil Vivian, of Carrizo Springs, who recently celebrated her 100th birthday, is one of few native-born Texans to live in the State under three flags. She was born in what is now Jackson county, September 17, 1836, as Jane O'Neil, later to become Mrs. Jane O'Neil Vivian, wife of the late John Vivian. She has a good memory and is an interesting conversationalist.

HELPY-SELFY LAUNDRY

Mrs. Ben F. Morrison has opened a helpy-selfy laundry at Mason. A new type of business for this section of the State, the laundry will furnish electric washing machines and the necessary hot and cold water and a place in which to do a washing with the housewife running her own clothes through at a nominal charge for the actual time the machines are operated.

"MA" BURDICK DIES

Funeral services for Mrs. Minnie Burdick, age 68, retired Salvation Army officer, who was affectionately known as "Ma" to thousands of American soldiers in France during the World War, was held at Houston under the auspices of the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Burdick died at her home, 1505 Dorothy Street, Houston, January 23rd. She was the only woman in the Salvation Army, in which she served 34 years, to receive the Croix de Guerre and she was also cited for bravery.

THE "BIG THICKET"

The "Big Thicket," a dense forest growth, centering in north Hardin county, and extending into Polk, Tyler, San Jacinto, Liberty and Montgomery counties, contains 2,000,000 acres. It is said to be the only tract in the United States remaining in its original state, unchanged by man. Wild life in the thicket include black bear, bobcat, lynx, panther, deer, wild turkey, beaver and otter, several varieties of squirrel and rare forms of bird life. This tract is frequented by hunters and trappers, and is the home of the Alabama-Coushatti Indians, only Indian tribe in Texas.

GRAPEFRUIT JUICE SHIPPED TO ENGLAND

Two thousand barrels of grapefruit juice, 110,000 gallons, were loaded on the Lykes Brothers steamship Westmoreland, at Brownsville, February 12th, for ports in England.

OLD HOTEL REGISTER CONTAINS FAMOUS NAMES

Hotel Nimitz, of Fredericksburg, famous hostelry of frontier days, contains the following names of men who ranked high in U. S. history:
General Phillip H. Sheridan.
Rutherford Richard Hays.
Ulysses S. Grant.
The register covers a period of 6 years—from 1873 to 1879.

FIRST RURAL MAIL ROUTE MARKED

A marker commemorating establishment of the first rural route in the United States will be erected at La-Grange, according to J. L. Giese, president of the Fayette County Rural Letter Carriers Association. The route was established August 1, 1899.

LOCO WEED POISON ISOLATED

The Texas A. & M. College reports that Dr. G. S. Fraps has isolated the poisonous substance in the loco weed responsible for locoism in animals. This substance has been named "locoine," and its properties and two salts prepared from it are being studied with the view of finding an antidote for loco weed poisoning.

AGED NEGRO COUPLE REFUSE PENSIONS

Sam Hill, old-time negro at Eagle Lake, age 81, and his wife, age 80, refused pensions when old age assistance was offered them by Judge W. M. Conner, investigator.

"I'd rather dey gib dis money to some ob de other old darkies, because we's still able to get erlong," the old man said.

THEFTS OF FARM IMPLEMENTS

Farmers are warned by officers of the law to lock up their farm implements. Recent thefts of all kinds of farm machinery in sections of North Texas by a gang who go around ostensibly buying old iron junk has resulted in some farmers having to buy new plows, harrows, cultivators, etc. The gang dismantles the machinery and sells it to junk dealers in cities.

A Rural School Standardized

terials were paid for from P. T. A. funds. About this time one of the members donated a lovely quilt top done in rose and white. We called it "The Publicity Quilt Top." A few of the women then solicited names of business men in a nearby town at 10c each. These names were then embroidered on the top in blue. Eighty-four names were obtained, amounting to $8.40. A little later it was made into a quilt and auctioned off in town on trades day. The quilt brought $4.15.

Stage and Centennial Quilt

There was no school stage. The P. T. A. body decided to build one. Lumber was delivered and the teacher and some men of the community built a platform 10x24 feet, not as wide as the school room, but since funds were meager it was thought sufficient for the school term.

A play, "Happy Valley," was produced immediately after the stage was finished; admission 10c to 15c. Twelve dollars were realized from the play.

One of the trustees' wives suggested making another quilt. Every one wanted a Centennial quilt. So a Centennial quilt was made. Mr. Mills designing the pattern. The background was a Texas flag of red, white and blue. Different symbols were embroidered on the top in blue and white to represent different places of interest. For instance, Van Zandt county, in which we lived, was portrayed by a big eagle. The dome of the State capitol typified Austin. A large red, long-horn steer stood for Fort Worth. The face of the Alamo was used to suggest San Antonio, an oil derrick Beaumont and a skyscraper Dallas. The quilt was a lovely thing when finished. Mr. Mills then staged another race and 15c play. Every ticket carried with it a free chance for the Centennial quilt. This play netted $24.

Only one requirement was now lacking. Painting the school house inside and outside and covering it. P. T. A. didn't have enough money to do this. The trustees thought it worthwhile enough to go into debt for the material. The job was done shortly after school was out in the spring.

Every pupil in seventh grade passed the county wide test and our school was pronounced "standardized."

We felt as if we had reached the end of a perfect year.

FRITZI RITZ

Any Hour

IS THE HOUR FOR Admiration Coffee!

At breakfast, lunch, or dinner . . . at parties or when friends drop in . . . or when you just "feel a cup of coffee coming on" . . . then is when you want Admiration. In fact, you want Admiration Coffee all the time—that is, if you want good coffee. And what's the use of drinking coffee at all if it isn't good? When you buy Admiration, you know that every pound you buy will be just as delicious and fragrant as the last one you bought. This fact is one of the reasons why Admiration has become the largest-selling coffee in Texas. Too, it's always roaster-fresh. You can't buy a finer coffee at any price than Admiration. Try it.

JUNGLE LUMBERING
The business boom in the United States is also booming the furniture business. Especially mahogany.

This fine timber grows only in Africa, the West Indies, Central and South America, but there are no mahogany forests. The tree is just scattered here and there in the jungle.

Early mahogany hunters cut all the trees along river banks. Today the search for mahogany is a terrific battle with the jungle.

When mahogany is discovered, trails are cut into the jungle, the trees felled, pulled into the main trail by man power or oxen, and then hauled to rivers.

There the logs are barked and branded. When floods come, the logs are washed out to sea and, amid warm, shark-infested waters, brave men labor to load them onto steamers.

At last, battered and worn, they reach the marts of civilized man and master craftsmen fashion them into beautiful furniture.

STUMPS OF VALUE
Forty thousand pounds of black walnut stumps, which will be made into furniture veneer, was shipped from Alpine, Texas, to Kansas City, Mo.

The stumps of most trees are worthless, but those of black walnut sometimes have beautiful whorls and irregular patterns which make them very valuable.

At veneer factories, the stumps, shorn of all roots, are placed on a steel carriage which moves back and forth against a sharp knife. The knife slices off the veneer in layers only 1-2800 of an inch thick.

The veneer is then sent to a furniture factory, where it is glued on over less expensive wood to make beautiful furniture.

"Ducky" Tea Towels

Haven't you longed for a set of tea towels that are just a bit different? Well, here is Dolly Duck with pious mien on Sunday. Washday of course is particularly to her delight, and so she goes through the week for the various daily tasks. The NUMO hot iron transfer is the kind that is usable a number of times, and gives you a tea towel design for each day of the week—and an extra one for a matching pan hold. If you want these designs write for No. C8553, enclose 10c, and address your letter to Southwest Magazine, Needlecraft Dept., Box 166, Kansas City, Mo.

OUR NEED FOR POISE

Recently I attended two meetings of similar nature which were presided over by entirely different types of women. One meeting was handled smoothly while the other was a hodgepodge of this and that. I asked myself, "Why the difference?"

Perhaps you have already decided the difference was in the leader. One woman was calm and at ease while the other one, who was an equally intelligent woman, blustered and fumed until everyone was on tension.

Of course, we all can't be social, economic or political leaders. But we can study our own selves and in this way bring out our best traits; we can plan our activities in such way as to appear at our best.

No woman who can read will be excused for not improving her mind and consequently the minds of her family. Every worthwhile newspaper and magazine have published column after column of suggestions from writers who have for years expended time and thought to worthwhile subjects.

Some women may think that mental improvement is unnecessary; that reading is unnecessary. This might be true should their aim be only frivolous accomplishments. But mothers owe it to their children and wives to their husbands to be as intelligent and charming as possible.

Observe cultured and interesting women whom you know and you will see that they possess, in a marked degree, charm and poise. Study women you most admire—they invariably possess poise, which does not always mean the "ability to get up before an audience with credit." And this charm and poise often is found in persons of low and humble birth.

Some women meekly accept as a fact that if they do not possess naturally that "something" designated by various names, such as "it," etc., they must remain nonentities. The truth of the matter is very few of us possess, naturally, a magnetic or charming personality. More often it is acquired by hard work and study.

The first essential for poise is to prepare for the place in life that your natural gifts have fitted you. At first glance this may seem a hopeless task, but nothing is "hopeless" if we are determined to do our best day by day. Study, reading, constructive thinking will in time bring us the ability needed to fill our little niche in human relations.

After we start to learn what are our duties we must acquire belief in ourselves. This requires real effort on our part. We must be honest and sincere. This does not mean honesty in material things (most of us really are that), but honesty in all things—especially ourselves.

It is much easier to criticize the other fellow's mistakes than it is to say, "I am to blame." They who can look themselves squarely in the eye and admit their short-comings have won more than half the battle.

Once we have recognized "the enemy" we must set about to conquer him. It is not an easy task to overcome "our own" faults, but with a will to win and the anticipation of pleasures that will accrue in time to come, we can accomplish our purpose.

A "babbling tongue" is one of the worst enemies of poise. Did you ever notice that scarcely anyone pays attention to a person who is constantly "talking" and who would have you believe he or she is well informed on every subject? Such persons rarely are given serious consideration. They are effaced by their own avalanche of words.

Make it a practice to speak only when you have something worthwhile to say. A mother who constantly scolds her children, or chides her husband, is given scant obedience and respect. Two Bible quotations come to my mind which fit this subject; they are: "Let your yea be yea; and your nay, nay." (Jas. 5:12). "Every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give an account thereof." (Matt. 12:36). If you would have "poise" speak less often and have something worth listening to when you do speak.

Kindly manners and consideration for others contribute much to our personality.

WHEN YOU ENTERTAIN WITH SPRING PARTIES

"In the springtime the young man's fancy, etc." is a quotation familiar to all. But do you realize "In the springtime the maiden's heart turns to the thoughts of a party"? Well, it is true—be this maiden 14 or 40. Spring is a delightful time in which to give both formal and informal parties. With coming holidays and the added inducement of balmy weather we can plan exciting and happy times.

A unique party may be planned around St. Patrick's day, whether you are of Irish descent or not.

Green prevailing in the spring, the color scheme can be worked out in any detail according to taste.

If costumes are in order then the unique Irish costumes can be made quite cheaply and most becoming to any type of person.

The refreshment table or tables decorations should carry out in detail the general color scheme.

Entertainment usually is planned according to the type and age of invited guests. However, at some recent and very successful parties I have noted the increasing interest in old-time games. Many hostesses are vying with one another to see who can discover some old and interesting game. Just as a tip I suggest your public library is a "mint" for such "finds." Be the first in your group to give this type of party.

As refreshments, of course, are an important part of any party whether it be winter, summer or spring, we have prepared a list of unusual and interesting dishes. Here they are:

Party Dishes—Good Recipes

Salad Delight

For the main dish at a party or luncheon this salad is unequalled.

Prepare by boiling or baking sufficient chicken or turkey to serve the number of guests expected. After cooling the well done meat cut into one-inch pieces (being careful not to mash). To the chicken or turkey add one cut of finely diced celery to the average 4-pound hen, also 1 small can of finely chopped pimiento. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Pour over the meat mixture two-thirds cup of mayonnaise and six tablespoons of vinegar that have been well mixed. Thoroughly chill.

Serve individually on lettuce leaf topped with a green olive and a dash of paprika, or in a large bowl lined with lettuce (for buffet suppers) topped with mayonnaise and paprika. Delightful and tasty.

Paradise Pudding

1 package lemon Jello
1 pint boiling water
1/2 cup almond, blanched
1/2 cup marshmallows, finely cut
12 maraschino cherries, coarsely cut.
6 macaroons, crushed
4 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup cream, whipped.

Dissolve Jello in boiling water. Chill. When slightly thickened beat with rotary egg beater until of consistency of whipped cream. Combine nuts, marshmallows, cherries, macaroons, sugar and salt, add to Jello. Fold in cream. Turn into loaf pan, 7x5x3 inches. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve in 1/2-inch slices. Serve 8. Increase amounts to serve a larger number of people.

Rich Cocoa Sauce

5 1/2 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/4 tablespoons corn-starch
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups boiling water

SPRING STYLES AND COLORS

Paris dress makers are shooting out new styles for spring and summer. Cable, wires and radio carry the news about the new clothes, miles and miles of words describing glamour, novelty, and excitement in cloth and details.

If what you want is a really dressy suit, get one decorated with gold embroidery—not too much—and wear a gold blouse with it.

Suits that mix two or three colors are going to be smart this spring with jackets in one color, skirts in another and blouses in a third. For example, a deep purple blue jacket, a light gray skirt, and a rich, light red blouse are a chic combination. These colors may be carried into the accessories to obtain some smart and flattering effects. A hat the color of the jacket is always chic.

LUCKY BREAKS

A bandit fired at the heart of a New York City policeman recently, but the bullet struck a button and was deflected. He was not injured seriously enough for medical treatment.

Another bandit fired at a street car conductor in Cleveland, Ohio, some time ago, but a package of tickets in the conductor's shirt pocket stopped the bullet.

Other men owe their lives to such lucky breaks. One of the most notable breaks is Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler. While fighting in China during the Boxer Rebellion, a war medal on his blouse stopped a rifle bullet and saved his life.

WHITE ELEPHANT

Word comes from the jungles of Travancore, a State in southern India, that a rare white elephant has been sighted. The government has instructed its hunters to capture the beast alive.

In Siam, a white elephant considered an incarnation of a god and the government will pay a princely sum to any one who delivers one of the animals.

Siamese kings used to ruin noblemen they disliked by giving them white elephants. As a nobleman had to take the animal in lordly style, soon went bankrupt. This belief to be the origin of the expression, "He has a white elephant on his hands."

TEXAS FARM NEWS REPORTS

A black eagle, seven feet between wing tips, was trapped on the McMurtry ranch near Clarendon. A white pig was used as bait.

Allison Rice, Leggett, Polk county, 4-H club member, made a bale of cotton to an acre and sold the cotton and cotton seed for $75.02. Exclusive of labor, his costs were $10.07, making a labor yield of $64.95. He says this yield is about double the average for the area.

W. R. Treece, farmer, 30 miles east of Dalhart, finds that terracing on a one-foot fall gives him three inches more moisture than terracing on a two-foot fall, practiced by his neighbor, Frank J. Curry. (In 1934 Curry converted Treece to terracing and contouring. That year, driest on record, Curry got 14 bushels of wheat to the acre to Treece's 7 bushels).

Working through the Cuero Chamber of Commerce, commercial buyers of pop corn are endeavoring to induce Hidalgo county farmers to put 2,000 acres to pop corn production.

Leo Brundrett, Rockport, displayed a radish of 24 pounds weight. Of the Chinese variety, the radish had a top spread of 36 inches, measured 29 inches around the middle and was 19 inches long.

M. F. Shannon, 1355 Roberts Avenue, Beaumont, showed an egg laid by a Rhode Island Red hen about three times normal size. It measured 8 1/4 inches long and 7 1/2 inches around.

Dr. Chas. Ward and Paul L. Allen, of Luling, caught a 50-pound yellow catfish in the Guadalupe river. Dr. Ward said a 50-pound flopping live catfish was certainly hard to get into a boat.

A. B. Jolley, Dallas county agent, reports that in 17 North Texas counties farmers terraced 67,355 acres. Devoted to legumes were 317,039 acres, while 353,780 acres were put under soil conserving crops. 185 trench silos were filled with 12,730 tons of silage. Boys 4-H clubs enrolled 4,824 boys. On 3,525 farms 11,219 pigs were killed and cured under approved methods. 184 swine production demonstrations involved 2,312 pigs and returned $42,400.

Commerce, Texas, district F. F. A. elevated 20 "Green-Hands" to the rank of Future Farmers during January.

Elmo V. Cook, county agent, says there are 19 trench silos in Eastland county with capacity of about 300 tons.

Taylor county farmers participating in the soil conservation program will receive about $225,000, according to Knox Parr, agricultural agent.

Wilbarger county farmers have completed terracing on 13 farms for a total of 2,385 acres, said Fred Rennels, county agent.

Kerr County Agent Winston W. Sheen, Kerrville, says that 7,000 lambs vaccinated against sore mouth in 1936 was 100 per cent successful.

Francis Giller, Asherton, Dimmit county, dusted tomatoes at ten-day intervals and reduced worm damage 50%, the loss being only 10%. On undusted tomatoes he lost 75% of first two pickings.

A. J. Lewis, Texas Livestock Commission, tested 65 flocks of poultry in Randall county for avian tuberculosis and found 42 of the 65 flocks showed reactors, one bird in nine being infected; 324 re-actors were destroyed. A total of 10,323 birds were tested.

Terraces were built on 25 Uvalde county farms, involving 1,442 acres, and contour lines run on 110 acres, says County Agent Fred Hall.

Terracing or contouring was applied to 3,978,244 acres in Texas during 1936, reports R. M. Bentley, extension agricultural engineer, College Station. This compares with previous high of 1,031,888 acres in 1931.

R. E. Chessher, Nixon, Gonales county, pest-poisoned 40 out of 55 acres of cotton and after all extra costs made a profit of $500 above the untreated portion.

Sixty-five head of hogs on the E. E. Price farm in Catfish community, Anderson county, were given cholera serum by Dr. T. H. Geddie, of Athens. Several hogs had already died of the disease.

Fifty-seven Cass county farmers have planted acreages of radishes, co-operating with the Atlanta Chamber Commerce drive. The Scarlet White-Tipped radish is the variety recommended by W. D. Moore, chamber secretary.

W. E. Rogers, of Wharton, Wharton county, sold $278 of snap beans from three acres after the land had produced in the spring $505 of Irish potatoes. Rogers double crops his land for several years and then plants legumes for three years. He says this method has increased his profits.

Hartley county farmers have applied for 20c per acre grants on about 15,000 acres under emergency tillage to prevent wind erosion. Grants are made only on blowing land, said County Agent John S. Coleman. Coleman estimates that 80,000 acres in Hartley county will need treatment.

Twenty-one Eastland county farmers have applied to County Agent Cook to serve as demonstrators of Tennessee Valley Authority phosphate fertilizer during the next four years. This involves 26,600 pounds of 45 per cent triple superphosphate fertilizer. The fertilizer will be used for soil conservation crops to be compared with unfertilized acreage. Cost to farmers is freight from Alabama.

Average production of flocks of Texas poultry demonstrators in 1936 was 149.8 eggs, according to E. N. Holmgren and Geo. P. McCarthy, poultry specialists of the Texas Extension Service, as against the general average for the State of about 90 eggs per hen.

John R. Armstrong, Farmer county farmer of the Farwell community, told his county agent that he wished he had known about trench silos in 1931-32 when he had lots of cheap feed, saying he could have saved a herd of 50 Herefords. This year he has two trench silos holding about 225 tons of feed.

Total production of cotton in Texas up to January 16th, according to figures of the Bureau of Census, Washington, was 2,809,257 bales. Three counties, Nueces with 85,129 bales, Ellis with 82,800 bales and Hill with 69,309 bales, a total of 237,238, was almost equal to the entire production of Oklahoma which was 288,138 bales.

Palo Pinto landowners have set out 24,000 peach trees this year. Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce has been urging peach plantings based on the success of orchards in Parker county. Soils, valued at $10 to $15 per acre, put into peach orchards, is commonly workable for $200 per acre when the trees are four to five years old.

A nation-wide campaign to sell canned grape fruit juice is to be undertaken by 37,000 associated chain food stores, according to John A. Logan of the National Association of Food Chains. A similar campaign, running through February, sold thousands of cars of fresh fruit from the Lower Rio Grande Valley. A grand total of 17,072 cars of fresh fruit and vegetables is the estimated shipments from the Valley up to January 31st.

Investment by growers of $25,000,000 in seed stocks to plant Texas' 1937 crops is the estimate of R. V. Miller of the State Seed and Plant Board. There are 80 firms and individuals qualified under State statutes to produce and sell quality seeds for practically every major field crop.

Because the 1936 drouth left a scarcity of cottonplanting seed, the Childress Chamber of Commerce has contracted for 12,000 bushels of cotton seed of approved varieties which it will sell to farmers at cost. Price will be $1.50 per bushel compared with breeding farm prices of $2.20.

Sowing That We May Reap

DEAR FRIENDS:

March, our first spring month, comes in blustery and makes us hold tight to our hat brims and close our eyes to the sand that blows in our faces, yet it is the beginning of the most important month of the year, for it marks seed-sowing time over the greater part of the Southwest. We plant most of our gardens and much of our field seeds in March throughout North and Central Texas, the Panhandle and Oklahoma. Men and women dig into the moist brown earth and there plant the tiny seeds that grow into food crops for sustenance of man and beast. What a great lesson this planting of seed teaches. "First we must die that we may live again." The harvest represents the death of the plant, but what the plant yields provides food that sustains life. All this is beautifully described by Christ in the "Parable of the Sower." Read this parable in Matthew 13:3-8.

CLUB NEWS

What an exciting month for Club News. Here we are at last all ready to start with a wonderful new club. Most of the rules and ideas for the club were suggested by the boys and girls themselves. The name was chosen by a boy who was the lucky winner in the contest. This brings me to the point I know all of you have been anxiously awaiting, that is, the name of the winner. So boys and girls here he is:

Contest Club Name Winner

It gives me great pleasure to announce as the winner of the $4 for the best and most appropriate name for the new club:

VERNIE PERRY, Jr.,
P. O. Box 307,
McKinney, Texas.

The name that has been selected for our new club is one the judges thought would best stand for all activities of the club. I am sure that each member will try to be a credit to the name and to the club itself. I hope you will join our new club that has been named by Vernie Perry and known as:

D. Y. B. CLUB (Do Your Best Club)

Here is a list of names for honorable mention and the club titles they have suggested: Pattie DeBlanc, Sugarland, Texas—"Front Rank Club." Edith Martin, Okemah, Okla.—"Our Opportunity Club." Theola Cross, Altus, Okla.—"The Worthwhile Club." Mrs. E. Vail, Kingfisher, Okla.—"Golden Hour Club." Rose Hereford, Lometa, Texas—"The Happy Life Club."

Also our thanks to the many who sent in club titles. We are sorry that you could not all win, but, of course, that was impossible. So it is in life—some can win; but all must strive. However, the greatest reward is the knowledge that you have tried to do your best.

Remember, there are going to be other contests and perhaps YOU will yet be a winner. I thank all who helped to make the contest a success.

Each of you will receive one of the first handsome Membership Cards. So you see you have won a prize anyway. As a special award, all who entered a name for the club will receive a Gold Star on their Membership Card.

D. Y. B. Club Rules

Following are the rules for the new club which have been suggested for the most part by readers of the Boys' and Girls' page:

Rule 1. There will be no age limit for the club. Only contests will require age limits so as to give all an equal opportunity.

Rule 2. Any reader of this page is eligible for membership providing he or she promises to accept the rules in full.

Rule 3. There will be no assessments, dues or fines at any time.

Rule 4. The chief object of the club is to bring about a better understanding and friendship between the readers of this column. This will be accomplished in the following ways:

(A) A list of Shut-In names with addresses will be published each month and the readers may select any name they wish, to which they will be a "Sunshine Pal." That is, write letters, send poems, etc., to the Shut-In for as long as they choose. You may select one name and be a Sunshine Pal for a month or a year, just as you please.

(B) Members may send their names and addresses to the club page with a request to have their name printed and ask for a "Pen Pal." In this way you can bring happiness to someone who is lonely but not sick.

Rule 5. At frequent intervals contests will be held in which members in good standing may take a part—the kind of contests being suggested for the most part by members themselves.

Rule 6. Names of persons necessary to conduct an interesting and instructive club can be added from time to time with due notice to members.

Rule 7. Special awards for service to the club will be given yearly.

Rule 8. Since the D. Y. B. Club must be carried on through the mails there can be no election of officers. Therefore it will be necessary for Aunt Mary to become the leader and all correspondence pertaining to club affairs (other than letters for Sunshine Pals and Pen Pals) may be sent to: Aunt Mary, Leader, D. Y. B. Club, Route 5, Box 179-B, Fort Worth, Texas.

May I suggest that you cut out the above club rules and put them away safely for future reference.

Membership in D. Y. B. Club

If you didn't send in a name for the new club and would like to become a member and receive one of the membership cards which will entitle you to all the privileges of the club, fill out the coupon at the bottom of this page and mail to the address given above for club correspondence.

D. Y. B. Club Contest

Here is an exciting contest I am sure many of you will be greatly interested in. It is a contest for young writers.

Rules

Write a story of not MORE than 200 words about "Sowing and Reaping." It may be any type of story just so the thought of sowing and reaping is the main theme. It may be the sowing of words, seeds, thoughts, etc.

Use one side of the paper only. Write with either pen, pencil or typewriter. Be sure and write plainly.

Put your name and address on the top of the first page of story. State your age and number of words—all entries not doing this will be disregarded in the final judging.

Membership in D. Y. B. Club is necessary to enter this contest. If you are not a member, attach membership coupon, completely filled out to your entry.

Prizes

1. A prize of TWO DOLLARS in cash will be paid to the person UNDER 14 years of age who enters the best story on Sowing and Reaping.

2. A prize of TWO DOLLARS in cash will be paid to the person OVER 14 years of age who enters the best story on Sowing and Reaping.

Mail your entries before April 5, 1937. Entries postmarked after this time will not be considered in the judging.

By making up your mind and starting early to work you will have a better chance to win one of these prizes.

Club Letters

Mattie W. Crites, Morganton, N. C., writes: "We live on the Catawba river and as I write it is bank full and out a little in the low places. There is a dam above us and one below; however, I don't think there is any danger. J. W. Tomlin, Tyler, Texas, sends me the Boys' and Girls' page. I think it is so nice of him and I appreciate it so much. Thank all of you who have been kind to me."

Grace Ladell Cross, Altus, Okla., says: "I cannot express how much I enjoy your Boys' and Girls' page. My sister and I get more pleasure out of it than anything else in the paper. I would enjoy a club very much. I think it is considerate in writing to the poor Shut-Ins. My grandmother passed away and we shall miss her. She would read the Boys' and Girls' page to my little brother and sister. She enjoyed it herself, too."

Willie Esther Hager, Madisonville, Texas, writes: "I do hope you can have a club for the young folk. I think it would be so nice."

Meredith Hodges, Alvord, Texas, writes: "I would enjoy being a member of your club. I am in the seventh grade."

Eddie Rickenbacker

Because he showed a passion for motors while still in high school, a boy in Columbus, Ohio, stepped right into the automobile business upon graduation.

Now 46, he is still interested in motors. As general manager of Eastern Air Lines, Edward Vernon Rickenbacker puts his faith in engines more powerful than any he ever dreamed of as a boy.

That's as it should be, for "Eddie" Rickenbacker's fame is intimately connected with roaring motors. They put his name in headlines as a racing driver. They kept it there when, with guns ablaze, he placed his name in the annals of World War airmen. They have brought him security and more renown as a transport executive.

When the U. S. went to war, Eddie Rickenbacker was the nation's leading auto racing driver. It was natural to find him a special chauffeur for Gen. John J. Pershing. But that was part of a plan.

Being so close to the "Boss" the driver knew he could get transferred to practically any place he chose. He chose the air service. He caught onto flying too quickly, was kept from the front because he was "indispensable" as an instructor.

A spell of "sickness" convinced officials that Eddie Rickenbacker wasn't indispensable, so he was allowed to try his hand at fighting.

History records the rest—how the ex-racing driver emerged from the big scrap with the title of "Captain" and the honor of being America's Ace of Aces. He shot down 26 planes.

Rickenbacker does not rely entirely on his war reputation for success. Although now a Colonel in the reserves, he despises war, and is prouder of his peacetime air record than his war feats.

"That new cereal flavor is tops in any league and Huskies help build muscle, too!"

Says

Bill Terry

"Start your day with a big bowl of Huskies," advises JAKE POWELL, slugging ace of the World Champion N.Y. Yankees, "that new cereal flavor is a winner in any league!"

FRANKIE FRISCH, brilliant manager of the St. Louis Cards, says: "For a nourishing breakfast, that really sticks to your ribs—eat Huskies! In a cereal there's nothing like whole wheat for real nourishment."

YOUR whole family will love these crisp, crunchy flakes of golden-brown whole wheat! For Huskies have a flavor that's really new. But more than that... every tempting bowlful brings you: Iron for blood. Phosphorus and other mineral salts for strong bones and teeth. Carbohydrates for food-energy. Protein to help build muscle. And Vitamins A, B, E and G—important to good nutrition. Get Huskies today—the new Post Cereal made by General Foods.

FEARFUL FLOODS

Recent floods in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, more destructive than any heretofore, recall that several months ago raging floods tore through three provinces of the Philippine Islands, leaving wrecked homes, devastated fields and drowned animals. Forty-eight people are known to have lost their lives and 2,000 more are said to be missing.

Many rivers overflow and carry away man and his works, but China's great "River of Sorrows," the Hoangho, is the worst of all in this respect.

Chinese have tried to hold its yellow flood with levees

60 to 70 feet high, but it has repeatedly burst through to devastate the adjoining plains. Its worst overflow, in 1887, carried away nearly a million souls. Another million died of starvation and disease.

One of the world's freakiest floods occurred in California's Imperial Valley in 1905-06. The Colorado river flooded 400 square miles in the valley, forming a lake known as the Salton Sea. If the river hadn't been turned back into its proper channel, the entire Imperial Valley would now be an inland sea.

Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away. Matt. 24:35.

Swings you into high...this FRIENDLY STIMULATION

"GUESS? NOT ME!" SAYS CAROLINE ROBERTS, ranking tennis star. "I know that the coffee I buy just couldn't be anything but really and truly fresh... because I buy Maxwell House in a can you open with a key! Yes—you never guess with Maxwell House. It is one coffee that always comes to you strictly roaster-fresh."

"I'VE BEEN AROUND!" SAYS CHARLES WRIGHT, one of New York's outstanding entertainers. "And I've tasted plenty of coffees in my time...but I've got to hand it to the Maxwell House people. They sure make the finest coffee I've ever known! It takes the world's choicest coffees, blended to perfection, to bring you the incomparable flavor of Maxwell House."

"A REAL 'FRESHENER-UPPER!'" SAYS PAUL HAAKON, famous dancer now starring in the Broadway hit "The Show Is On"... "that's what Maxwell House Coffee is to me! Its friendly stimulation picks you up... puts you back on your feet in great shape!"

ARE YOU WASTING MONEY?

Next time you buy coffee, ask yourself this: "Am I paying money for something I don't get? Am I getting all the flavor, freshness and full-bodied coffee goodness I'm paying for?" Then remember—Maxwell House is one coffee that always gives you full value for your money! For Vita-Fresh Maxwell House is packed in the super-vacuum can—the only way science knows to always bring you coffee without loss of flavor... coffee as fresh and delicious as the hour it left the roaster! So, be sure you get what you pay for. Get a can of Maxwell House Coffee—today!

"We just changed to Maxwell House recently," says Mrs. L. S. Kerr of Brooklyn, N. Y. "And I must say that we never knew before how wonderfully delicious coffee could be!"

Preaching vs. Practicing

A Communist agitator rode into Hyde Park, and after leaning his bicycle against the railing, mounted a soap box and proceeded to address the crowd.

"If your family is hungry," he shouted, "raid a shop and take food for them, and don't care what anybody says. If your wife hasn't got a coat, pick the best fur coat you can see, and ignore the consequences!"

After several more minutes in this strain, he dismounted from his soap box, and his next words were:

"Where's the scoundrel who swiped my bicycle?"

Agreed

Visiting Englishman—"I think it deplorable the way Americans are polluting our mother tongue with their slang, don't you son?"

His Son (thoroughly Americanized)—"You sure said a mouthful, that time, pop."

Real Economy

A bacteriologist says a germ can live a year on a dollar bill. Slim Slocum says that's economy for you, but who wants to be a germ.

A LITTLE FUN

Jokes to Make You Laugh

Time and Overtime

"You ought to cut my hair cheaper, there's so little of it."
"Oh, no. In your case we don't charge for cutting the hair, we charge for having to search for it."

Nautical Language

There was a young lady named Swanker Who slept while the ship lay at anchor. She woke in dismay When she heard the mate say: "Now, hoist up the topsheet and spanker!"

Speaking of Beliefs

"She is a woman who has gone through a great deal for her belief."
"Indeed? What is her belief?"
"She believes she can wear a No. 5 shoe on a No. 7 foot."

Figurative Wings

Sonny—"You aren't an angel, are you, Pop?"
Pop—"Well, not exactly. Why do you ask such a question?"
Sonny—"Well, I heard Mom say she was going to clip your wings."

Too Resistant

Diner—"Did you serve this cherry pie today because it's so near Washington's birthday?"
Waiter—"That's right, sir."
Diner—"Well, get me a hatchet so I can cut it."

Difference in Build

Dickie—"My dad's a whole head taller than your dad."
Eddie—"Maybe he is but my dad is a whole stomach bigger than your dad."

Public Relations

Several of the driver-conductors on our buses are nice, sympathetic chaps, and the other morning one of them was overheard talking to an old lady thus:

"Good morning, Ma; nice morning. You're out early—where would you like to go?"

"You're very polite this morning, ain't yer?"

"Yes, Ma . . . New idea. It's the Public Relations Department."

"Whatever d'yer mean?"

"Why, we gotta treat all the public just like relations."

Oh! Grandpa

"Grandpa—"
"Children should be seen, not heard!"
"But grandpa—"
"Tut, tut! Enough!"
"But Grandpa, you—"
"Well, well—what is it?"
"It isn't anything now. There was a cockroach in your salad, but you've eaten it!"

Highly Potent

Prospective customer—"Is that hair tonic any good?"
Salesman—"Say, I spilled some of it on my comb last week and now it's a brush."

Unsophisticated

"The sun never sets on the British Empire," said the English woman proudly.
"How unfortunate," remarked the American girl. "At home we have such lovely sunsets."

Patience!

An American who had been enjoying the sights and other things which London provides for tourists asked a passing policeman how he could reach his hotel.

"Stand on this corner and take bus 41 when it comes along," the policeman told him.

An hour later he met the man at the same corner.

"Caught your bus yet?" asked the policeman.

"No, sir," said the sightseer. "The thirty-ninth bus just gone by; only got to wait for two more."

Grandmother Might Have Objected

A clergyman, at a dinner, had listened to a talkative young man who had much to say on Darwin and his "Origin of Species."

"I can't see," argued the young whippersnapper, "what difference it would make to me if my grandfather was an ape."

"No," commented the clergyman, "I can't see it would. But it must have made a great difference to your grandmother."

A Boner

A teacher was reading to her class when she came across the word "unaware." She asked if anyone knew the meaning. One tiny girl raised her

A Building Boom

"What'da you mean, it's easy to start a town these days?"

"Just build a filling station and a store as a decoy. In a few weeks there will be forty more filling stations and forty more stores."

Same Language

A woman who did not understand the language of business went into the Bank of England and asked to consult someone about her war loan holding. The clerk to whom she talked happened to be rather a grave person. He inquired:

"Is it a case of conversion or redemption, Madam?"

"Conversion? Redemption?" faltered the woman. "Er—pardon me, is this the Bank of England or the Church of England?"

Poultry News

Fermented Mash Peps Up Appetite

At this time of the year when appetites are apt to lag in pens of birds that have been laying for 3 or 4 months, mash consumption can often be encouraged by feeding a fermented mash. There is no particular trick in mixing a fermented mash. Simply take some of the regular mash and add about 1½ pounds of yeast for each 100 pounds of mash, moisten it and allow it to stand in a wooden container for about 12 hours. It is a good plan to mix up each time only as much mash as will be consumed at one feeding so that none is left. On many farms, the feeding of a fermented mash in addition to the regular mash is a permanent practice.

Drinking Water

In addition to cleanliness, it is necessary to guard the health of the flock by other methods. One of these is the use in the drinking water of a good disinfectant to prevent the spread of any disease, since the drinking fountain is the common gathering place of all the birds in the pen. Should there be any serious difficulty with disease in the flock it is a good plan to clean the house at once and disinfect by spraying with a strong solution of a good commercial disinfectant, or by disinfecting with a disinfectant torch. Keeping a close watch on the condition of the nesting material in nests, also helps to maintain proper sanitary conditions.

Geese

Mrs. Edna Wedge, Dewey county, Okla., in Farmers Stockman, says: "Wonder why farm women don't think more about geese for profit? I have sold geese at Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons for 12 years. I receive $1 for a dressed goose and never have to worry about certain weights. "Geese are, I find, easier to sell than chickens or turkeys. The same customers buy mine each year and there is a market for twice as many as I have every season. "Last autumn I had ten geese to sell. It took two and one-half hours to pick and dress them, 25 minutes to deliver after I got to town and there was $10 in my purse."

Hatchability

This is a very good reason for keeping the poultry house comfortable by means of good construction, insulation, proper ventilation, or the use of heat to maintain a temperature of 40 to 45 degrees. Since sudden and severe cold spells at the time eggs are laid affect hatchability, it is well to protect against these cold spells

FLASH! MELVIN PURVIS FORMER ACE G-MAN FORMS NEW CORPS OF SECRET OPERATORS!

Invites all boys and girls to join his new Law-and-Order Patrol!

Melvin Purvis is the young lawyer who became America's ace G-Man. He directed the capture of Dillinger, "Pretty Boy" Floyd, "Baby Face" Nelson, and many other public enemies.

Now Melvin Purvis, who founded the Junior G-Man Corps, has formed a great new organization—greater, even, than his Junior G-Men. It is called Melvin Purvis' Law-and-Order Patrol. Members are SECRET OPERATORS. They possess the latest secrets of crime detection. They have special codes, passwords, how to detect crimes and special equipment. All over America Melvin Purvis' Secret Operators are working with him in the battle for law and order. At the right is a "candid camera" snapshot of one of Melvin Purvis' squads of Secret Operators. They have a special problem which came up during one of their drills . . .

GEE, THAT'S RIGHT—MAYBE WE OUGHT TO WRITE TO MELVIN PURVIS AND ASK HIM WHAT HE DOES!

THE FALSE CLUE

OR HOW MELVIN PURVIS CAPTURED LEFTY LOUIE, THE BANK ROBBER! THIS STORY PUBLISHED AS PROOF THAT CRIME DOES NOT PAY!

HM, FALSE CLUES, EH? THEY OFTEN TRAP THE PERSON WHO LEAVES THEM! I CAN ANSWER THIS LETTER BEST BY TELLING ABOUT AN EXPERIENCE OF MY OWN—AND WHILE I'M DOING IT, HOW ABOUT A BOWL OF POST TOASTIES?

YOU BET, MR. PURVIS!

"The First National Bank in a large Midwestern city had been robbed, and I was called in . . ."

HERE ARE THE GLOVES MULLINS, OUR CASHIER, FORGOT TO TAKE AWAY WITH HIM—WE FOUND THEM RIGHT BY THE VAULT!

I DIDN'T DO IT! SOMEBODY MUST HAVE STOLEN THOSE GLOVES!

HM, MIGHTY CARELESS LEAVING A CLUE LIKE THAT AROUND. LET ME SEE THOSE GLOVES!

WHY—NO.

LATER IN PURVIS' OFFICE

DO YOU ALL KNOW YOUR POSTS? HAS EVERY ONE A COPY OF THIS DIAGRAM? REMEMBER, WE'VE GOT TO MAKE THIS RAID QUIETLY—BUT WITH NO CHANCE FOR ESCAPE!

WE'RE ALL SET, CHIEF!

The Raid Diagram—Before making a raid, Secret Operators make a careful diagram . . . an agent is placed at every possible point of vantage . . . no loophole for escape is left.

"My aides took up their positions covering every exit of the building. Two men and I slipped quietly into the building, and . . ."

MELVIN PURVIS! SHOULDN'T A TRIED TO FOOL 'EM!

AND THAT ILLUSTRATES THE GENERAL RULE ALL SECRET OPERATORS KNOW. WHEN A CLUE'S TOO SIMPLE—IT'S USUALLY FALSE! NOW HOW ABOUT SOME MORE POST TOASTIES, PAUL AND JOAN?

I WANT A BIG BOWLFUL, MR. PURVIS!

ME, TOO. THEY'RE THE FINEST THING THERE IS FOR BREAKFAST!

Post Toasties
Corn Flakes

Just taste that richer flavor from the hearts of corn . . . mm! It's the finest breakfast dish ever . . . a bowl of crisp, delicious Post Toasties with rich milk or cream!
